REPLY TO MANUFACTURERS.

Exceptions to Many of the Statements in the Manifesto of the New England Manufacturers' Association-Some New Light

THE GRANITE CUTTERS' NATIONAL UNION, CONCORD N. H., May 28, 1892.

A statement appears in the daily paper purporting to emanate from the "Executive Committee New England Manufacturers' Association," which at first we deemed not necessary to reply to, believing that such lame excuses for a seriou wrong bore on its face its own condemnation in the minds of all unprejudiced persons; but the desire having been freely expressed by disinterested parties for us to no tice the manifesto, we do so in as brief manner as possible, considering the nature of the case, remarking that if we do not take up every point, it is not from the want of an answer and proof, but from a desire not to tire the patience of the public with a long-winded statement in the style of "you're another," which, instead of drawing contending parties together, tends to widen the breach, and it is well known that the relations existing in the stone trade are at present strained enough without adding men of Westerly are first approached as being unreasonable in asking for a minimum rate of wages at 23 cents per hour instead of 22 2-9, or 18 cents "to inexperienced or less capable men," by which it appears that in the sliding scale 18 cents receives the preference, and experience teaches that the minimum is the preferred rate by an employer in the granite trade. Some, it is true, will go short of a cigar of two a day to give an extra good man higher rate. Two dollars a day appears to some a very high rate of wages, but when it is taken into consideration the time lost through wet weather and in winter is will be found that the yearly earnings of quarrymen are very scanty, and we venture to say that quarrymen, as a rule, would gladly accept an offer of $2 per day and no los time. In addition to lost time, the hard work of the quarryman, his exposure to all changes of weather, his liability to loss of life or limb, renders his calling a hazardous one, and we have yet to learn of a quarrytending only to his hammer and drill, for, although some quarrymen have become well off, the money has been made more by scheming than by hard work at $2 per day and lost time. There does not appear any showing that the quarrymen desired to restrict a generous employer from paying above the minimum rate, because in the quotation made it says, "paid no less than 23 cents per hour," but it nowhere appears that "while the employers desired to pay each man all that he could earn," any effort has been made to balk them in their generous desires.

In the statement referred to, the quarry-

The narrative then goes on to link the quarrymen with the cutters, and states that it was evident that the quarrymen's strike would become general, of which, as far as we can learn, there was no such intention or desire on the part of the work men; and the manufacturers, while laying their plans for a general lockout, gave out publicly through the press that at the meeting of the manufacturers' association held in Boston, Feb. 9, "Some bills of prices were submitted from different local associations and referred to the committee. Everything was reported in good working order, and although several bills are pending, no labor trouble is anticipated." But as subsequent events have proven, other trouble was contemplated, as it shows that they knew what bills required their consideration, and they knew what others might be expected, yet they do not appear to have desired to consult with the workmen to come to an amicable understanding on such bills of prices and that their plans were laid for a lockout, or as now termed, "a suspension of business," appears evident from the fact that twice when subommittees of the National Committee ave met sub-committees of the Executive Committee the "leader" of the Manufacturers' Association made threats of a general lockout, so that it must be evident that it was not the suddenly conceived idea of finding that the bills expired on April 30, which caused them to lockout their men, but a scheme to break the union, for previously they have had committees of each party meet and discuss the matters arising in bills of prices presented, and only when all other means failed to effect a

The offer made by the employers to have bills of prices expire December 31 of each year was viewed by the workmen of the granite business generally as not in the best interest of the workmen and the merchants with whom they have to do business to procure their necessaries from, as past advantage has been taken of the workmen in the winter months, and during the past winter we know of places where men have were paid during the spring, summer and fall as soon as hard weather set in, and in view of such recent events, even with the Convention of New York's Anti-Hill men doubt the intentions of those whom, by past experience, they have known to have kept back work in summer, telling the men that they would be glad to cut it before the winter is over. Merchants in granite localities also know by experience the grinding-down process adopted and the method of doing business of some bosses by giving their men orders on the merchants for clothes, groceries or provisions in lieu of cash, and they got their money when they could from the bosses. Is it any wonder that, knowing all these things, the workmen object to a return to such a system and that the public sympathy is with the workmen.

The union has never dictated to any branch at what date its bill of prices should by Charles S. the opposition to the president is being carried on by a few disappointed politicians. The course of the president and members of his administration in laying so much stress upon this allegation is regarded as a mistake, and will have a tendency to react, and will simply stimulate those who oppose a second term on the ground that they believe in a new deal as a stimulus to exertion. Senator Quay was in conference with the anti-Harrison leaders who remained in the city, and it was decided to leave for Minneapons as soon as possible, in order to investigate their plans for the convention.

Reed's Conversion.

Ex-Speaker Reed started for Minne-apolis last night. He still entertains some very energetic opinions on the propriety of Harrison asking a renomination when it must be clear that his position is causing a great disturbance in the Repub lican party. "I think the Republicans have honored him enough," said the stalwart ex-speaker. "Lincoln and Grant were given second terms because the government was passing through two great ordeals. NEW YORK, June 1.—In an interview here, ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt, who opposes President Harrison's renomination, reterred to the interview with the president recently published, and said the president does not conceive it to be morally possible for anyone to oppose him, except from bad, selfish and revengeful motives. Mr. Platt admitted that the administration had done great things, but, he said, the president is only one of many statesmen who cojointly labored to the country's honor and advantage.

Mr. Platt credited Mr. Blaine with the reciprocity policy, which, he said, the president in a message to congress had spoken of with something like a sneer. Afterward the president said much about the glories of reciprocity, and very little about the statesman who contrived it. Mr. Platt also showed that other men as well as the president contributed to the ettlement of the Samoan difficulty, the Chilian trouble and the American pork question abroad, and the president had no right to claim all the glorious achieve ments of the Fifty-first congress. He paid a compliment to ex-Speaker Reed.

Mr. Platt declared that the question which the Minneapolis convention must consider is the great question of availability-which of the excellent Republican leaders is most likely to develop party strength and the least likely to cause party defections. He thought the president had displayed a singular facility in arousing enmities, and said that to ask the party to assume all these without bringing to it some unique element of strength, was to

Mr. Cotton wished something might be lone that the members of the Board could be nearer each other at the meetings. It was suggested that the two tables in City Hall be placed together hereafter, which will be done at future meetings.

Several members spoke of the advisability of having both grammar and primary grades in the building.

Upon motion of Mr. Cotton it was voted that the new building be made a grammar and primary school.

A question then arose as to whether Wilson street, was the scene of a happy high jump, standing jump, running jump of the High school who had completed a three years' course.

The employers have an unquestionable ight to suspend work whenever their best interest or necessity demands it, and this is a privilege which the employes and Unions have always exercised, regardless of bills of prices or the wishes of their employers.

We also wish it distinctly understood that in insisting upon the termination of bills of prices in January, the employers do not desire to make any reduction in the bills of prices, or in any way to change them to the detriment of their employes. Adams Building, - Quincy They are willing to arrange bills of prices to continue for one, two or several years, providing the term expires at a time when such termination will least interfere with the fulfilment of their contracts with their customers, and not cripple their season's business.

The proposition from employes in some places to give six months notice previous to May 1st, of an intended change, is not satisfactory, for the reason that employers know from experience terms cannot usually be arranged until the expiration of the notice, and oftentimes long afterwards.

It is therefore desirable that the settlement of these difficulties be not deferred until the midst of a busy season, when our contracts are being executed.

While the employers distinctly declare it is not their intention to take any advantage of their employes at the time suggested for the termination of prices, they also wish it distinctly understood that they impaired, nor their business interfered with, by the termination of bills in the "Buffalo Bill's" wonderful wild west show. Prior to his venture abroad, Mr. Cody exhibited at Staten Island, in New York Harbor, busiest season of the year.

The employers, in their position, feel that they have their employes interests in view as well as their own, for the reason that permanency of employment to the men is as important a factor as stability in business to the employer, and that these results cannot be permanently secured under the conditions which have prevailed in

A Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

A CONFERENCE

Prospect Now of Settlement of the Granite Troubles.

MEETING ARRANGED FOR TODAY

The People Anxiously Waiting the Result of Conference of Union Representatives and Executive Committee of Manufact-

The Morning Journal says: The granite strike may be settled today. This fact became apparent yesterday afternoon, when a dispatch was sent to James Grant of New York, Secretary of the Paving Cutters' National Union, by Josiah B. Dyer, Secretary of the Granite Cutters' National Union, requesting Grant and a representive of New York's striking pavers to come to Boston immediately to be present at a conference between the Executive Board of the Granite Manufacturers' Association of New England and the strikers, o be held at the Quincy House this after-

It could not be learned yesterday which side suggested the conference. Mr. Grant and two representatives of the striking pavers left New York for Boston at mid night. They expect to return home with news of a settlement which will be satis-

What the terms of the settlement wil be, and which side will make the most important concessions, are questions that cannot be answered until to-day.

Quincy manufacturers were interviewed by the Ledger this morning but none of them knew or were willing to admit that a conference had been arranged.

The people, however, anxiously await developments.

Shiftlessness.

Living without plans is shiftlessness. Living above plans may be the highest life of faith. The ordinary traveler must look to the beaten track as his guide in journeying, but he who is competent to be an explorer may strike out from the traveled way and be guided by the circumstances of each hour in his action beyond that path. But if a man is to do without the ruts and the finger boards of the common highway he must be able to read the signs of the heavens in order to be sure of his bearings as he journeys. A man has occasion to rely on rules and patterns of conduct unless he has the ability to comprehend and apply principles in every special emergency. Only he who has faith that God has called him to act all by himself in the world is justified in starting out in life not knowing whither he goes; but he can move forward fearlessly.—Sunday School Times.

The inventors are as follows: John Ford, Port-Neuf, Conu., T. B. Wilson, Spring-field; J. W. Blake, Brooklyn; Don D. Miles, Aurora, Ills.; Ivert Larsen, Chicago; M. H. Durst, London; Arthur Savage, Utica, N. Y.; Major Glenworth, London. The day was occupied with the con-cluding tests of the two new Kragg-Jergensen guns. The magazines hold five cartridges of 30 caliber, with grooved heads. These can be entered into the magazine either from the packer or singly. The fire can also be maintained while the magazine is held in reserve. The magazine board is said to be very much pleased with these guns. Today John Ford's gun will be subjected to the preliminary tests, and the order in which the other guns will be tested is as printed above. The board expects to finish its session in about ten days.

DEATH OF NATHAN AUSTIN

The Well-Known Circus Performer of Many Years Past.

WORCSETER, Mass., June 3.-Nathan Austin, for many years a well-known clown with Bernum's and other circuses, died at the state lunatic hospital in this city Wednesday evening, aged 58 years. In his younger days he was an acrobat and rider. Afterward he became clown and traveled all over the world. He married Madam d'Atalie, the strong woman, about sixteen years ago. She died last year, and Austin has been failing in health since that time. He retired from the circus ring about twelve years ago, and has since lived in South Worcester, where for several years he kept a saloon. He leaves considerable property.

LESSON X, SECOND QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 5.

Text of the Lesson, Dan. iii, 13-25-Memory Verses, 16-18-Golden Text, Isa. xliii, 2-Commentary by the Rev. D. M.

13. "Then Nebuchadnezzar in his rage and fury commanded to bring Shadrach Meshach and Abednego." This Gentile king, to whom God gave the kingdoms of this world, and to whom also He gave the wonderful vision of chapter ii, has in the pride of his heart set up an image which he commands all people to worship. Ten times in this chapter it is spoken of as the golden image or the image which he had Hotel of the Three Kings, at Basle. both salt and fresh water yachts during the set up. It is suggestive of another image to be set up in the last days by an enemy Conrad II., his son, Henry III., and provide large prizes and make perfect of God, which men must either worship or die (Rev. xiii, 15). Daniel's friends refused to worship the image which Nebuchadnezzar had set up, and therefore they are sum moned to appear before the king.

14. "Do not ye serve my gods, nor wor-ship the golden image which I have set up?" This is the question asked of these dent Adams in 1800. The White House young men by the man to whom it had been made known that "The God of Heaven had restoration was completed in 1818. SLAVIN VS. RIORDAN.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE, The Endowment Question in the House, and Other Matters Discussed. Boston, June 4.-The assessment endowment bill was taken up, and Mr. Barrett moved his substitute bill to close up the orders as relates to the endowment features. He spoke of the line of duty and responsibility upon which the legislature was called to act for the honor of the state. In reply to a question of Mr. Chester, whether the committee had not removed the worst clause of the law, he said the worst clause was the enacting clause. As to the provision for representation for £000 delegates in a district, it would not apply to twenty-five of the twenty-nine orders, for they do not have large enough memberships. He spoke of the strict government regulation upon banks, insur-ance companies and so on, and contrasted it with the easy terms accorded to these orders.

Mr. Butler offered a substitute for the house bill to restrict the sale of liquor by inholders and common victuallers, claiming that it was better adapted to accomplish the desired result and more satisfactory to many prominent temperance men. Mr. Chamberlain objected that it was not germane to the order on which the bill was based, and urged that the bill of the committee should be supported. The matter then went over until Tuesday. The important section of the bill is that lienses for the sale of intoxicating liquors to be drunk on the premises shall not keep or sell such liquors in a liquor saloon or in any building, room, apartment, or place in which the selling of such liquors is the exclusive or principal business.

To Preserve an Alpine Flower. The diet of the Tyrol last week passed a bill imposing heavy fines upon persons found selling any sample of the beautiful but rare Alpine flower called edelweiss, which has been pulled up by the roots on the mountains. A similar act was passed seven years ago by the diet of Salzburg, with a view to the preservation of the edelweiss plant, which is threatened with extinction in the Austrian Alps. In the Salzburg district the success of this legislation is, unfortunately, not encouraging.

A Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

FREE THOROUGHFARE. In hollow trees

Live white owls, chipmunks, bats and bees. If I were a chipmunk, bat or bee, I'd pack my stores in an empty tree. Ants and beetles and snakes are found,

And troth, the snake with a leathern skin Needs a cellar to hide him in. By the brook's brink, Splash! go the beaver, muskrat, mink. Clasped in a doublet close as he,

A beaver's hut were the place for me. High o'er the rocks, Lord of his watch tower, dwells the fox. Were I more fleet than the west wind is, I'd have a staircase steep as his.

Of nose and beak, Tooth and tail, it were long to speak. Every creature I much admire Who lives in winter and needs no fire.

Which soever any one meets
Has roofed his chamber or paved his streets;
Yet of all their wits, not one, you see,
Has learned the secret of lock and key.

They arrived about midday, but were obliged to leave their horses at an inn outside the village, as neither horses nor carriages were permitted to enter its streets. Brock enjoys in Holland an extraordinary reputation for neatness, The streets are paved with polished stones in different colors, which are arranged in mosaic designs. In front of each house is a space reserved for the use of its inhabitants, which is inclosed by an iron railing with bright ornaments of brass and furnished with settees of carved wood. are very pronounced that the contest before the Republican convention will be one to the finish between Harrison and Blaine alone, and if this is the case the Not Long in the President's Hands Bentest will be remarkably brief as well as lliant. The sensation of the day was withdrawal of General Alger from the l as a possibility in any event. Senator Stockbridge announced to a reporter that, notwithstanding the determination to bring General Alger's name before the convention, it would not be presented. Senator Stockbridge quoted General Alger as saying that he had gone into this contest honestly and with the sincere intention of making the best fight possible. He was a friend of Mr. Blaine, and under the conditions that now existed he would withdraw from the field and not let his name go before the convention at all. General Alger was further quoted as say-ing that he washed his hands of the whole

The resignation of Mr. Blaine was the topic on every tongue. It made the Blaine men jubilant, but the friends of President Harrison were not by any means depressed. They got their baggage stowed away in their hotel rooms and went right out to do some early missionary work. Chris Magee, the proprietor of the Pittsburg Times, and the leader of the anti-Quay Republicans in Pennsylvania, joined the Harrison forces early in the

This will place Mr. Depew A Portland-Salem, 12; Portland, 4. in a position of great difficulty and embarrassment, but it is not likely that he can be swerved from his intention to work and talk for the renomination of the ent. How many of York delegates will act with him is not certainly known, as some who have been regarded as friendly to Harrison are not quite sure as to how they will vote. The most important arrival yesterday was a delegation of about fifty from California. They were met at the union station by a band and a handsomely uniformed local company, and marched up Hennepin avenue, waving red, white and blue plumes. Their banner bore the inscription "Reciprocity and Protection," and "Gold and Silver." The Californians were shouting for Blaine, and enthusiasm reached a high pitch when they marched into the lobby of the hotel.

Senator Hausbrough and Senator Washburn both stated to a reporter for the United Press that in their opinion the situation had resolved itself into a strug-

Mr. Miller himself was present and took an active part in the conference. Senator Miller confirmed this statement.

To a reporter of the United Press he said: "I have arrived here after six weeks travel over the country, in which I have not been able to confer with my friends in New York. Since coming here, I have consulted with as many of the delegates as I could possibly meet in the short time I have been here. Drops Anchor at Nut Island to be Burned-Her History.

Nut Island, the graveyard of the United States Navy, is to see the destruction of another famous old war vessel—the Wyoming. On Saturday morning this vessel was towed to the island, and there dropped her anchor for the last time. For thirty-four years she has flown the American flag from her mizzen, and assisted in maintaining the dignity of the Union.

The Wyoming is a third-rate, wooden ment, and was built at Philadelphia by Merrick & Co., in 1858. She is a sister ship to the Kearsarge, of Alabama fame. Her most famous battle was when, under the command of the late Rear Admiral David McDougall, she steamed into the straits of Shimonoseki, Japan, and defeat- system. ed the Japanese men-of-war Lancefield, yesterday visited by one of the most appalling fires and overwhelming floods in silenced a shore battery. Of late years the Wyoming has been in service at the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., for practical drills and the instruction of cadets in handling sails, spars, and machinery. She is now owned by a syndicate of Boston junk dealers, who will burn her for the old metal that is in her hull.

Blaine's Resignation.

The resignation of James G. Blaine rom President Harrison's cabinet has Association: been the all absorbing talk among politicians since the news sent broadcast Saturday afternoon. The following interviews were printed in Boston papers:

Mr. Henry H. Faxon of Quincy, said: Blaine's resignation does not mean nomination. There will be a big fight at the convention, but I predict that if Blaine is ominated and elected he will not live to erve out his term.'

Mr. Josiah Quincy said: "While Mr Blaine's resignation from the cabinet comes an appeal for sympathy, it is babyish. as a surprise, it was almost a necessity under present conditions. It has been evident for some little time that the secretary was seriously considering the question of accepting the nomination for the presidency, if tendered him; the positive and outspoken course of party leaders, who are not used to taking chances about a matter of such importance, has alone been enough to indicate this. I am surprised at Mr. Blaine's decision, because I do not see how he can expect to sustain the physical strain, either of the campaign or of actual service in the presidency. Having made up his mind, I think that his withdrawa from the cabinet prior to the meeting of the convention was the only proper course open to him. While Mr. Blaine will be severely criticised by the partisans of President Harrison, I do not think, on the whole, that his course has been dishonor able to his chief. The President had the field to himself, until it became evident from his party." Congressman Morse said relative to Mr. Blaine's resignation

"Mr. Harrison will be renominated, and eserves to be. He has given us a clean, usinesslike and patriotic administration exceptionally good, indeed excellent President Harrison has championed the cause of honest money and stands between the country now and a debased and degraded He hasn't known more than his party and has approved the measures of his party. The presidency would add nothing to the glory of fame of James G. Blaine of and if his health will permit."

A GARDEN BY THE SEA.

I know a little garden close, Set thick with lily and red rose, Where I would wander if I might From dewy morn to dewy night,

And though within it no birds sing, And though no pillared house is there And though the apple boughs are bare Of fruit and blossom, would to God Her feet upon the green grass trod, And I beheld them as before.

And in the close two fair streams are Drawn from the purple hills afar, Drawn down unto the restless sea; Dark hills whose heath bloom feeds no

Dark shore no ship has ever seen, Tormented by the billows green Whose murmur comes unceasin Unto the place for which I cry.

For which I cry both day and night, For which I let slip all delight, Whereby I grow both deaf and blind,

Careless to win, unskilled to find. And quick to lose what all men seek. Yet tottering as I am and weak, Still have I left a little breath

WAITING FOR THE BOYS TO GROW.

Mother, in the cottage yonder, Why into the future wander,
Wishing for your boys to grow?
Childhood love is better, purer,

Of them you are ever surer, Ere into the world they go. While unto your voice they hearken, Ne'er a shade they'll cause to darken Your young motherhood's bright sky. Take, each hour, its store of pleasures Sure love's choicest, richest treasures

Round your babies' childhood lie.

Wait not for the days you're planning, All bright omens ever scanning, Dreaming day dreams for your boys. Others, too, have lost life's sweetness, Lost their hopes in full completeness, All by wasting present joys.

Future's oft a strange undoing Of the castles now we're viewing, Tow'ring castles in the air. So, fond mother, cease your yearning, Taste the sweets you now are spurning, While your babes are free from care.

"Que rico!" cried Rodolfo, holding the bottle away from him with a critical closing of one eye. "It is a better prospect than I have seen in the New Placers. Such dirt ought to pay five pesos the day or more, if one can find the paystreak. And I know just where I dug the biggest palmilla, for I noticed it had so fat a root, and there I am going this very now. Perchance thou wilt not have to sell the serape, nanita—only wait me, till I see if we do not find much gold!" For six days the old jacal saw very little of Rodolfo. Exactly where he had pried out the root of the big palmilla was now a square hole nearly four feet across and eighteen feet deep. cubic yard and "a yard of gravel" is 8 good days's work for one person). Truly, they had worked very well. But were they on the paystreak? That was what Rodolfo was very anxious to know-for the gold that comes swirling down the stream from the mother veins in the mountains acts precisely as it acted in Rodolfo's wooden bowl. It is not distributed at random throughout that vast volume of accompanying rocks and sand, but trails along in reluctant file in the line of the strongest current, and being heavier according to its bulk than any of its companions, it keeps sinking down and down till the great sheet of bedrock will let it sink no deeper. And when the rains are over and the raging torrent becomes but a dry wash of sand and bowlders-for there are very few perennial streams in the gold regions of the southwest-the cunning yellow fugitives lie still there, never to change places until some great freshet shall scour the bedrock bare, or some prying hand finds their hiding place. So, even if the miner drop his shaft squarely upon the paystreak, he does not know which way to follow it, but must be panning out sample gravel every little while and running his drift to one side or the other according to what the pan tells him.

He was introduced by Governor Merriam. In der and after considerable delay succeeded opening he paid a tribute to the hall by saying that he had seen the efforts of the first hall he had ever been in that would take care of them all.

The political passages of Mr. Depew' speech were accompanied by most significant demonstrations. After he had run through the list of "favorite sons," each chairman and then attempt to gag him by receiving a scanty measure of applause, a resolution requesting him not to present he reserved to the last the names of Blaine the name of Harrison. John Dwight was and Harrison as belonging, not to the state but to the nation, his point was anticipated. A voice in the gallery cried: "Blaine," and such a tumultuous burst of cheering arose that the orator was con Members of the several committees of the convention were selected as follows: Resoequally graceful panegyric on Harrison as "the man on the record of whose administration any candidate must run and think Blaine," answered the general, win or be defeated.

Once more the cheers broke out in tumultuous volume and it was hard to say which received the greater portion o approval. At the close of Mr. Depew's speech there were loud calls for McKinley and Ingalls, but as neither responded the musical program was rendered and the exercises were brought to a most satisfactory ending. National Committee Meeting.

The skirmishing for place by the Blain and Harrison leaders in connection with the temporary organization of the convention was brought to a close in the national committee. The first business entered on was that of the election of temporary chairman. The Harrison men had finally centered upon Senator Cullom of Illinois General Horace Porter of New York hav ng declined to permit the use of his name Mr. Fassett, after having announced that he would not be a candidate for the position, was induced to reconsider his de termination at the request of the New York delegation, and early in the day it was understood that he would be the candidate of the Blaine forces. T. H. Dwight who held the proxy for Mr. Fassett, put him in nomination. Mr. Clarkson, Mr. Quay, Mr. Payne of Wisconsin, Mr. Chase of Rhode Island and Mr. Conger spoke for Fassett. Senator Cullom was put in nomination by the Harrison men, Mr. Carey of Wyoming making the nominating speech Mr. Evans of Minnesota, Mr. Bradley o Vermont and Governor Mellette of South Dakota seconding the nomination. The states voting for Fassett were: Alabama, California, Colorado, Connec ticut, District of Columbia, Florida, Idaho Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massa husetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nevada. New York, New Mexico, North Carolina North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylva-nia, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin

This was the first test vote. The lines be tween the Blaine and Harrison men were strictly drawn and revealed the fact that previous claims of both sides were some what exaggerated. A sub-committee was then appointed to select the other officers dark horse talk has suddenly assumed that the vote is going to be so close that a dark horse may come in and it may be vate letter from a prominent Ohio Republican to the Harrison men said there was a plan on foot to nominate McKinley if the issue should not be settled on the first ballot. The Indiana people went to Governor McKinley and asked him what he would do about the matter. The governor assnred them that if they wished he would rise in the convention and ask the delegates from Ohio not to vote for him. Notwithstanding this assurance, talk about McKinley is heard everywhere. The dark horse move ment has brought out the other minor candidates again, and the talk in political headquarters is "Blaine or Harrison on the first ballot or a dark horse." Senator Cullom has heard the muttering of the storm and his lightning rod is in position. Word has gone out among his friends that if Harrison is not nominated on the first ballot he would like to have the Illinois vote thrown to him on the second. Out of this probably arose the story that Senator Cullom had a letter in his pocket from the president authorizing the withdrawal of his name on the second ballot The Allison and Rusk booms gathered strength, and even the Alger boom was galvanized into something like activity.

Harrison and Anti-Harrison. One of the most dramatic and sensa-tional episodes of the gathering of the clans was precipitated by the arrival of an anti-Harrison Indiana delegation from Fort Wayne, headed by R. G. McDonald, a wealthy politician of that city, who opposed Harrison four years ago on account of some personal grievances. McDonald came in ahead of the Indiana Blaine club, which he had brought on a special train at his own expense. They bore aloft a picture of the man from Maine. On their arrival at the West, McDonald proceeded to hang the picture alongside the Harrison pictures outside the Indiana headquarters. This bold defiance exasperated the Harrisonians beyond measure. Rhody Shiel, in particular, lost control of himself, and from the fringe of the crowd shouted to somebody to 'cut the rag

Others urged that McDonald and his people be thrown out and were dared to on credentials, F. W. Simmons; on rules, etc., D. L. Heinshimer; honorary vice speech from Chauncey M. Depew. General Mahone, in a short talk with a United Press reporter, said: "There will be no complimentary votes cast: the lines have been too closely drawn. There will be but one ballot and but two candidates—Blaine and Harrison. The talk about dark horses is ridiculous: either side can waste time or votes in mplimenting favorite sons." Blaine Gains in Ohio. The chief surprise has been the unexpected strength which the Blaine faction nonstrated in the Ohio delegation. It has been generally understood that of the forty-six votes of the Buckeye state Harrison would get nearly three fourths. It was commonly accepted that the Sherman forces in the delegation represented the strength of the administration, and the Foraker delegates the following of Blaine. Therefore the contest over the selection of the members of the national committee resolved itself into a contest of the Blaine and Harrison forces in the delegation. The result was a victory for the Harrison people, by a surprisingly close vote of 23 to 21, Mr. Hahn being elected. Governor McKinley was made chairman of the dele

The Blaine forces were reinforced by the arrival of a large contingent from Cincin ati, headed by the Young Men's Blain club of that city, 200 strong, tall, fine looking men in black suits, white hats and carrying red, white and blue umbrellas which attracted a great deal of attention. All of them wore a round badge nearly the size of a breast plate, and bear ing an excellent picture of Blaine. A big crowd, representing a half dozen states, was at the depot to meet them.

Blaine Has Spoken. NEW YORK, June 7 .- A special to The Sun from Washington says: While it has been generally understood that the action taken on Saturday by Mr. Blaine in resigning from the state department was be construed as an announcement of his open candidacy for the nomination at Minneapolis, there has been no direct statement to that effect from Mr. Blaine himself. It can, however, be authoritatively stated that he has communicated with his lieutenants in the convention city declaring his candidacy and asking them to support him for the nomination.

A Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

LOWELL, Mass., June 7.-The suicide of hn Stott has caused a sensation here, here he was widely known. For a long me he was afflicted with physical infirmities, which seemed in their later stages to affect his mind. He had but recently returned from Asbury Park, N. J., considerably improved, but still depressed by his other sufferings.

Mrs. Stott drove out yesterday afternoon, leaving him at home. As she came into the house he raised the pistol to his head and fired. Dr. Smith was hastily called, but could do nothing, and he end came about 5 o'clock.

Mr. Stott was born in England in 1834, and came to this country fifteen years later. He came to Lowell in 1852, and began work in the Belvidere woolen mills. owned by his relative, the late Charles Stott. He continued with the firm till the present time, with the exception of four years spent in the west.

Recently he has been superintendent of mill 22. In 1870 and 1871 he was elected to the common council, and in 1889 to the Lowell water board, of which he was president. He was an ardent Republican, and has been identified with the city comittee for the last quarter of a century. He was a member of several orders.

NARROWLY ESCAPED LYNCHING.

Three Roughs Commit a Dastardly Assault Upon Two Old Women.

HARTFORD, June 7.—Three New Britain roughs, Herbert Saunders, John Dillon and Walter Abbott, brutally assaulted Mrs. Sarah Van Hausen, a widow aged 63 and Miss Ellen P. Smith, aged 66, at Kensington. Mrs. Van Hausen is sick with consumption and will die from the brutal treatment.

The two women, and another old woman who made her escape to an upper room, lived alone in a house on the main road from New Britain to Meriden. All three were in bed when the men broke

Two of the men were arrested in Berlin and a large crowd attempted to lynch them. The third man fled to New Britain and was arrested there after a hard fight. They stole a gold watch from the house.

A Yale Sophomore Becomes the Victim of Initiation Ceremonies.

NEW HAVEN, June 7 .- Wilkins Rustin, the Yale sophomore who was injured in the junior society initiation last week, died at 11:30 last night. He sank rapidly after 8 o'clock, and an operation was performed with the hope of prolonging ife until his parents arrived, but it was insuccessful. Rustin was 28 years old and a bright and popular young man. At the initiation Rustin was blindfolded and told to run down a street. He swerved a little from the direct course and dashed into the pole of a carriage before he could be checked. He received an awful blow on the abdomen and was in intense agony

Is the Case of Almy Likely to Be Argued Before the Full Beuch. CONCORD, N. H., June 7.-The law term of the full bench of the supreme court pened here today. The case of Almy, the Hanover murderer, will come up when the docket of Grafton county is reached, it is thought on Tuesday of next week. It is probable that the matter will be given consideration beyond that attached to the question of continuance, and that it will be marked for argument at the December term, briefs to be furnished by the defense and state in the meantime. A term for decisions will be held in July, but there is no probability that the case will be ready for hearing at that time.

Success. The stoutest ship may breast the gale And still be driven back:
What though to reach the port she fail,
Shall we declare she could not sail Because she had to tack?

When storms belate and plagues impede Ambition's goal may not be won—Yet hast thou bravely, nobly done
If thou hast bravely tried.

"He nobly does who nobly dares" When trials sore oppress.

Whose perseverance naught can shake, Though failure follows in his wake,

His failure is success. The fiercest battles are to fight, The strongest forts to scale.

Rodoiro could scarcely wait to swallow the last of his tough tortilla. Wash- it ground for itself a basin in the stubing it down with a hasty pull from the born bedrock. The grinding rock was keg, he shoveled the screen box full of there now—he could feel with his barits gravel, and taking the upright handle rounded side amid the fine sand with fine sand rapidly melted down through the screen and went jolting down the end of the fallen bowlder, so that he canvas apron to the back end of the rocker, where it fell to the wooden bottom, turned and began to wander forward to the open front end. When the screen was washed clear of sand Maria lifted it out, clawed over the glistening pebbles to make sure that there was no coarse nuggets among them, and flung them out, filling the screen with fresh gravel all the while the rocking and the pouring on of water continued. The sloping bottom of the rocker was full of sand—at the lower end an inch deep-and this sheet of sand, shaken by the motion and coaxed on by the water, kept creeping over the last riffle cleat and falling into the clay lined reservoir, from which Ma-stead of from the nearly empty keg. The afternoon shadows were deep in the round hollows of the mighty Sandias when Rodolfo rose from beside the rocker, emptied the screen and straightened his stiff legs.

"Now for a clean up, nana!" he said. She poured in a gentle stream upon the apron while he rocked; and, as there was now no new sand rolling down, that on the apron and on the bottom of the rocker began to work rapidly forward, and in a few minutes there remained only a little sand caught in the angle behind each riffle. Rodolfo whittled out a smooth, thin stick with a square end, and carefully scooped the wet sand into his bowl, scraping out every grain from the cracks, and proceeded to pan it out. But now, instead of a few handfuls of random dirt, the bowl held the concentrated richness of half a ton of gravel from bedrock. That was the beauty of the rocker-it would have taken four times as long to "work" that pile of gravel with the pan; the rocker did the heavy work in short order, and left only the finishing touches for the

And now, when Rodolfo had got rid of most of the sand and began to "draw" what was left at the bottom of the bowl, there was a sight for four dark, glistening eyes. As the unstable sand drifted forward and forward it uncovered more and more of a rich, deliberate bank of yellow, till Rodolfo's trembling fingers from spilling, and excited tears ran down Maria's thin cheeks. That has the endorse-ment of history, and the deeds of the Republican party are history itself. And while we are prevented from "pointing with pride" to the achievements of our party, on account of our tenderness for the Democracy, nevertheless we sit here today rejoicing that our past history shows that from our birth until now Mr. Fassett was elected temporary chairman, the Harrison men not opposing him. Great cheering and a storm of applause greeted him as he stepped forward to read his speech.

McKinley Elected Chairman.

HON. WM. MCKINLEY.

Mr. Chairman and Fellow Republicans. For the distinguished honor which you have conferred upon me I am very grateful. I assume the duties of presiding officer with extreme diffidence and am sustained by a reliance upon your generosity, forbearance and co-operation. It is eminently fitting that a Republican convention should be held in a temple erected for the display of the products of protection to American industries and in this beautiful city of Minneapolis, the joy and the pride of giant west. This city, which just about equals in age the Republican party, with its prosperous mills and factories and workshops and its generous and happy homes, abounds in object lessons, teaching clearer than in words the county winds and product of an object lessons, teaching clearer than in words the county winds and product of can doctrines.

Mayor Fairbanks reported that Prof. Aohr would give three entertainments for $70. There was some little talk on children's entertainment and the impression seemed to be that entertainments for Wards One and Three be given at Hancock hall; Ward Two at the Washington street Congregational church vestry; Ward Four at No. I CRANITE STREET. A Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

The LEDGER of Tuesday quoted the figures of the school census of Fitchburg, a city which in 1890 had a population of over 22,000 and has now over 25,000. The number was 4,248. The census of the school children of Quincy has just been completed by Mr. E. E. Fellows under the direction of the Superintendent of Schools, and he finds this city to have 4,377 between more than Fitchburg, although Quincy's street. population is 5,000 less. It is evident therefore that the percentage of school gone to Lanesville, Mass., on a visit to her children in this city is very large, and it parents. is no wonder increased accommodations

Manufacturers Claim There is Not Much Work and are Indifferent, to Which the Union Men Take Exceptions - The Quarries Where Men are at Work.

Things in the granite trouble in this city remain unchanged and as far as can be learned there is not much prospect of a settlement. Many of the stone cutters are leaving town and seeking employment elsewhere, the exact number it is impossible to say.

Business of all kinds has begun to feel the effects of the shut down in the granite business, and while the store keepers do not say much, it is very evident that they are on the anxious seat, and that unless some move is made toward a settlement, Mrs. Edward Poutas of West Quincy has that they will make some move.

Said one grocer, we do not propose to remain idle and see all kinds of business in the city ruined by this suspension of the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the guest of Mrs. granite industry. When asked if there was anything definite in the matter of the grocer's opening a quarry, he was non-com-Miss Hannah Curtin and the Misses mital, saying that when a move was made

There seems to be some activity in the quarries, those running being as follows: Granite Railway Co., with sixteen men. Townsend & Clements, with eighteen McKenzie & Paterson, with fifteen men. Badger Bros., with six men. Reinhalter Bros., with six men.

McDonnell Bros., with their full number. These are all non-union men. The Inion say they are all green and inexperienced men. On the other hand the manufacturers say they understand their business, and that is the way it goes, one says one thing and the other denies it.

Cheering News for Harrison Men. Mr. Harrison's Indiana friends were greatly elated when they heard of the meeting of the New York delegates last night, at which those present pledged themselves to vote for the president They were also encouraged by a report from what was regarded as a reliable source, that in case the Michigan delegaion should drop General Alger after the first ballot, eight of its members would certainly vote for Mr. Harrison. The Blaine men had steadily denied that the president could secure a single vote from Michigan, and claimed its full vote for Blaine after the first ballot. The receipt of so much good news all at once, aroused the enthusiasm of the Indiana people.

The statement sent out from the head quarters of the New York Harrison contingent was received at the rendezvous of the supporters of Mr. Blaine in that delegation with indignation not unmixed with ridicule. Senator Platt needed bu to give it but a single glance to pronounce it an absolutely unqualified misrepre sentation of facts. He pointed out that in the first place Goodale and Waters are aclined to be for a third candidate, while night. General Husted, who is put down as being with the Harrison elements, was not present. He was in excellent spirits, and his appearance and movements indicated that he had retained his full physical vigor. He received from time to time dispatches from Minneapolis, and a few private tele grams, with the contents of all of which he seemed very well pleased—especially the news of the unanimous election of Mr. Fassett as temporary chairman; but although manifestly much interested, he evinced neither excitement nor anxiety concerning the outcome of the great con est. Only Man Ever Killed by a Meteor. To the writer's certain knowledge there is but one case on record where a human being has been killed by an aerolite or fall of meteoric stone. The fatality mentioned occurred in Whetstone township, Crawford county, O., in 1875, and is recorded in the Bucyrus Journal as follows: As David Misenthaler, the famous stockman, of Whetstone township, was driving his cows to the barn about daylight this morning he was struck by an aerolite and instantly killed. It appears as if the stone had come down from a direction a little west of south, striking the man just under or on the right shoulder, passing obliquely through him from the right shoulder to just tive, with glass doors, and are very easily above the left hip, burying the greater portion of his body under itself in the soft earth. The stone is about the size

A Drowning Man's Experience. To prevent any person from interfering with my design I jumped into the river late in the afternoon Friday. No one appeared to be about at the time. When I struck the water I immediately sank, going down and down, and yet being carried forward until I thought I would never again arise. A sound roared through my head; it seemed to me it would burst. I opened my mouth and attempted to breathe, being unable to endure the pressure longer, but the water rushed in and I closed my mouth. I was again compelled to open it. More water entered. The feeling was horri-

The very earliest andirons were of wrought iron, the attic overhead. The house is finished and few of them have come down to this century, especially in America. One characteristic of early forms was the curved top, ending in a diamond shaped mass of iron, from 11/2 to 3 inches in diameter. The goat's foot, not with divided hoof, however, is a common well as iron. When the andiron was developed as creepers, came to be used with the large ones. The latter were for show; the creepers were to hold the logs, and perwere used alone in small fireplaces and imitated and elaborated in brass. They are not uncommon at the antique shops, and they are exactly imitated in wrought iron by modern manufacturers and sold at from $1.50 to $3 a pair. Another comparatively early form is a wrought iron strip with simply wrought iron feet and a brass knob at the top.—New York Sun.

Then Mr. Spooner preceded and General Mahone followed him down the aisle to the platform. Mr. McKinley shook hands with Mr. Fassett while the convention rose and cheered again and again. Mr. Fassett, turning from him, thanked the convention for its confidence and kindness to him. Then he introduced the permanent chairman. There was another tumult of applause and a noisy delegate sprang to his feet and proposed three cheers. They were given with a will. When the noise had ceased Governor Mc-Kinley said:

Chairman McKinley's Speech. Gentlemen of the Convention-I thank you for the honor of presiding over the ninth national convention of the Republican party. A Republican convention means something. They have always meant something. Republican conventions say what they mean and mean what they say. They declare principles and politics and purposes, and when entrusted with powers they execute and enforce them. The first national convention of the Republican party thirty-six years ago met in the city of Philadelphia. The platform of that the city of Philadelphia. The platform of that convention reads today more like an inspiration than an affirmation of a political party. Every provision of that great instrument made by the fathers of our party is on the statutes of our country today.

Every one of them has been embodied into public law, and that cannot be said of the platform of any political organization in this or any other country in the world. Whenever there is anything to be done in this country.

there is anything to be done in this country, and by this country, and for this country, the Republican party is called up to do it. Gentlemen, we are here today to make a platform and a ticket that will commend themselves to the consciences and intelligence and the judg-ment of the people and we will do it. Whatever is done by this convention will meet the approval of the American people in November of this year. We have already heard some of the notes of victory, for this is a Republican year. Rhode Island has spoken. Only yes erday Oregon spoke, electing three representatives—three Republican representatives— to the congress of the United States, and when we get through with this convention, its conclusions will be the law of Republican action as they will be the assurance of Republican expenses by taxing the products of other na-tions rather than by taxing the products of our own. The Democratic party believes in direct taxation, that is, in taxing ourselves; but we do not believe in that principle so long as we can find somebody else to tax.

Our protective tariff not only does everything which a revenue tariff is doing—raising all needed revenues—but of a protective tariff it does more. A protective tariff encourages and stimulates American industries, and gives the widest possibilities to American genius and American effort. You may study Presiand American deart Cleveland's utterances from the first one he made in New York, when he said he did not know anything about the tariff, till his last one in Rhode Island; and you come away last one in Rhode Island; and you come away and uninformed as to what tariff [Columbia The roll shall be called and the

he action of the committee on credentials. There are about sixty votes involved in the contests pending before that committee. In the Louisiana delegation the contest involves twelve of the sixteen delegates; in Alabama fourteen delgates are involved, out of a total of twentytwo. In the states of Mississippi and Texas there are also contests, in the former six delegates being involved, and in the latter nearly the entire delegation. The political significance of the Texas contest, however, will hardly have special bearing on the result, as the decision not to recognize the white man's Republican party eliminates them from consideration in this connection. In Maryland there are two delegates, in Kentucky two, in North Carolina five, and in South Carolina the whole delegation of eighteen. In Georgia two delegates are at issue, and in Utah two delegates. In Blaine men will be seated, their claim being conceded by all and sustained by previous action of the national committee.

A Careful Analysis

of the expressed preference of delegates, candidates are each still from twenty-five nomination. The balance of power, if a ballot had been taken yesterday, would have rested with General Alger. All the ardor and enthusiasm and irresistible conviction of success which the rank and file of both forces displayed yesterday are significantly absent. The average Repubican has been deeply disappointed at the eisurely manner in which the leading spirits of the convention have postponed the essential business. Each faction has suddenly realized that the citadel of the opposition is not to be carried by assault and each now awaits the result of the

The diplomatic triumph of the Blaine element in securing control of the organization of the convention and of the committees which are to play such an important part in its labors is the sensation of the day. It has forced itself upon every man that there is a deep motive in this. and that the plans of the Blaine leaders have been cautiously laid. The committee on credentials, which is a Blaine committee, is proceeding slowly. Of the contests so far disposed of by this committee the Blaine delegates have been seated in very instance.

The Harrison leaders are very much irritated over the Blaine policy of delay and appear determined to force the ballot as boat. oon as possible. It is stated that when the committee on credentials makes its partial report the Harrison people will move to adjourn for an hour or two, with instructions to the committee to wind up its business and report to the convention at that time. This will be contested by the Blaine delegates and may afford the opportunity for the first direct test of strength be tween the two factions in the convention. Under the rules adopted the esentation of candidates cannot be made until after the reports of the credentials and platform committees are disposed of. If the credentials committee is ordered to report, Chairman Foraker and his Blaine colleagues of the committee on resolutions will still have it within their power further to procrastinate ballotting by delaying the report of the committee on

General Otis says the delegation stands 19 for Harrison to 11 for Blaine, and the Harrison men do not propose to allow their strength to be wasted in such a manner. Other similar rumors about other states are claimed to be for a similar purpose and with about an equal amount of basis

There is one thing about the new boat that perplexes him, and that is the choosing of a name, but as the Commodore is a staunch friend and admirer of the Emerald Isle, he will probably called it after some one of her illustrious sons.

Speaking of the Erin reminds me of an ncident in connection with the famous boat. Many of my readers have perhaps never heard that the Erin has a song composed in its honor, but such is the fact. Now everyone knows Peter McConarty, but hardly anyone would suspect him of composing songs, but he does, and some good ones too. His most famous song is Austin & Winslow's Express Office, dedicated to Mr. Cavanagh's old racer, and whenever the captain takes the Land Leaguers for a spin around the harbor, he is never content until "Peter" exhuberates with his melodious voice the triumphs and conquests of Mr. Cavanagh's craft. SAVILLE AND JONES.

A Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

The Quincy Station Gets 62 Trains Where It Had 58 Before.

A new timetable wiil go into effect on the Old Colony Railroad next Monday. The timetable of last summer has not been reinstated and the new trains are not numerous. Where Quincy had 29 inward and 29 outward trains, it will next week have 21 inward and 30 outward. One of the inward trains is an express at 11.40 A M., which will make the run in 15 minutes, and the other the marketmen's train. 1.50 Both the new outward will be in the morning, there being trains at 8 and 8.35, where there was one at 8.17, and the other at Quincy Adams will gain two inward and one outward; Wollaston, two inward and two outward; and Atlantic, three inward and one outward. West Quincy and East Milton will continue with ten trains each way. Norfolk Downs and Montclair both appear on the timetable, the former with six inward and five outward, and the latter with two each way.

The minor changes in many of the trains are numerous, several going a minute or two earlier. Don't get left.

SCOTLAND AND IRELAND.

An Interesting Lecture on These Countries at Wollaston

Prof. John Moore gave a lecture Tuesday evening in the Congregational vestry Wollaston. The subject was, "Sights and Insights in Scotland and Ireland." The lecturer having travelled extensively in both countries and having observed for himself, and not through the eyes of others, felt prepared to give fresh views of people and things.

He landed in Glasgow and the first impression produced was the solidity of the docks and buildings, showing by their material and structure, that they were adapted to stand for indefinite ages. The most prominent object of antiquarian interest is the cathedral which dates back to the twelfth century. This is today the finest ecclesiastical structure in Glasgow. Edinburgh the capitol and Athens of North Britain, is about an hour's ride by rail from Glasgow. This abounds with historical associations and remains. The Castle, Holyrood Palace, St. Giles church in which Knox preached were described. Scotland is exceedingly rich in antiquarian remains, which are worthy of much more attention than most tourists bestow. These are full of meaning and inspiration to thoughtful minds. They call up prominently before the mind the struggles for and triumphs of civil and religious free dom. The lecturer viewed from the lofty rock where Sterling Castle stands, seven attle fields including that of Baunockourn. The Scotch are generally an intelligent, law abiding and industrious people. Knox and the other reformers believed in the open Bible and the school, as did the Pilgrims, who settled New England. The results have been what might be expected. King James, who aimed to reestablish popery, came over with his army and knocked at the gates for admittance, and the heroic and defiant reply was-"No surrender." Strange Fate of a Large Family. In the history of wealthy families nothing has been recorded more melancholy in character than the strange fate which has overtaken the widow of the founder of one of the most prosperous firms in Paris and her sons and daughters. M. Parissot, who started the famous drapery and general outfitting establishment of the "Belle Jardiniere," died some years ago, leaving a widow and two young daughters. Mme. Parissot, after a due period of mourning married a M. Finance, by whom she had three sons-Paul, Charles and Emile.

Afterward M. and Mme. Finance seprated, the wife having charge of the children, five in number. About five years ago the elder of the two girls died, and was followed to the grave by her sister in the year 1889. Their fortune, inherited from their father, M. Parissot, was left to their stepbrothers, the Finances. Hardly had Mme. Finance recovered from the shocks caused by the deaths of her daughters than her eldest son, Paul, was drowned then but Charles and Emile Finance, the inheritors of a large fortune, but also of an undermining malady, which they knew full well would soon end their MILFORD, Mass., June 9.-Milford officers have run down a nest of petty juvenile thieves by the arrest of Richard Archer, 14, for breaking and entering the Claffin school and larceny therefrom on May 29. For some time the teachers and pupils of that school have repeatedly missed articles of value.

Anderson was taken ill Monday, and at once had a decided antipathy towards water. Tues- scattered showers. day night he began frothing from the mouth, and was unable to take food. The sight of strangers caused him great fright. About midnight he began barking and snarling like a dog and raved in lelirium. His chest heaved rapidly, and his breath came as that of a panting dog. In his struggles he bit at his friends and tore the bed clothing to ribbons. In his agony he gnawed the foot-board and posts of the bed, his teeth sinking deep into the wood. He died in the greatest agony. City Physician Little and Drs. Donovan and McQuiggan attended him and pronounced death due to the effect of fright on his mind and its subsequent action on has a double mission in life. One part of it is to get to fires as rapidly as possible with a ton or two of apparatus behind it; the other is to make as many vacancies as possible in the police force. The animal is a valuable one, well trained and good to look at. For the firemen it has a professional regard, toward citizens in general it has the haughtiness which generally goes forth with a place in the public service, but toward policemen it displays the fiercest of antipathies. The horse belongs to one of the companies stationed far down town, and the engine house is rather cramped. People having occasion to enter the place have to pass close to the animal's stall, and as a result the member of the police force who has business in the house is likely to have a lively time of it. MINNEAPOLIS, June 10 .- The third day of the convention opened very quietly. The delegates are beginning to suffer from that "tired feeling" of which the medical advertisers speak, pathetically, and there is a decided falling off in the noisy exhibition of the early part of the week. The Blaine men, however, are striving to pro-long the agony in the hope that they may gain sufficient strength from the opposing faction to carry their man through, and while it is apparent that the Harrison men are anxious for a ballot at the earliest possible moment, and that they are fully conscious that delay is dangerous, yet it is not improbable that Mr. Blaine's followers may overreach themselves by their policy of masterly inactivity, and that their manifest purpose to hinder the progress of business may disgust not a few delegates, those especially who want to get home, and in the end there may be a reaction in favor of Harrison.

There was no opposition when General Cogswell asked that the committee on credentials be given till 8 p. m. The vote for adjournment until evening, 407 to 206, was on the surface a Blaine victory, inasmuch as it delayed business.

Has the Blaine Boom Burst? It is reported on all sides that the Blaine boom has burst and that his name will between the Blaine and Harrison forces not be formally presented to the convention. H. C. of the Republican convention was characon the part of the visitors and delegates the session that the galleries began to fill. The evening was waim and pleasant. Just before the hour of meeting the report was circulated that the Harrison managers were discussing the advisability of forcing a ballot at this session.

Harrison forces were silent as to the course they intended to pursue, and when questioned merely stated that they did not know whether the convention would reach a ballot at once or not. Up to the last moment uncertainty was manifested as to the intentions of the Blaine managers regarding the presentation of Mr. Blaine. It was stated that ex-Governor Foraker and Mr. Platt were both inclined to the belief that it would be wiser not to formally present Mr. Blaine to the onvention. In the event of this decision eing adhered to, it was obvious that if the Harrison people decided to restrict their nominating and seconding speeches, a ballot could be reached within a couple of hours after the opening of the session. When this condition of affairs became snown the deepest interest was manifested by both the galleries and the delegates. At 8:30 every seat in the auditorium appeared to be occupied, and as some advertiser had distributed fans to every individual in the audience, a magnificent sight was presented by 12,000 fans waving n time to the music of the band.

At this juncture Chairman Cogswell of the credentials committee appeared on the platform, and at this signal that the most important committee of the organization had concluded its labors, the convention burst into applause.

Dick Thompson Honored. "The convention will please come to or-der," said Chairman McKinley at prerisely 8:45, and Chauncey M. Depew imediately demanded recognition, and in a felicitious speech moved to congratulate Hon. Richard W. Thompson of Indiana on his 83rd birthday, and to invite him to the platform. Prolonged cheers followed Mr. Depew's motion, and when the mani-festations had subsided, Chairman Mc-Kinley said: "All in favor of the motion say aye."

There was a storm of yeas.
"The ayes have it," said Chairman Mc-Kinley, without putting the negative vote, and great laughter and applause approved this delicate compliment to this great Indianian. It was a scene of enthusiasm long to be remembered that greeted the appearance of the venerable ex-secretary of the navy, as he walked up the aisle, arm in arm with Chauncev M. Depew and Harrison's ra-election

A. O. Dawes of Missouri. Mr. Depew made a brief speech, as follows:

I rise to a question of privilege, not high privilege, but present privilege. We have present here among our number a delegate who has been a delegate to every national convention of the Republican party since its inauguration, who has voted for every president of the United States for the last sixty years, and who has served with distinction in the capturet, who is reday 83 years of each of the chemical property and the capturet, who is reday 83 years of each of the chemical property and the capturet who is reday 83 years of each of the commending that they be seated, and I am at Washington as I am rightfully here to represent my Republican constituency, "said Senator Walcott, and his reply was loudly cheered by the Blaine delegates.

Mr. Cannon of Utah, in behalf of the "regulars" in Utah, presented a minority report recommending that they be seated, the cabinet, who is today so years or age, in full physical vigor. The majority report recommended that twelve Harrison delegates in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana be seated in place of the same number of Blaine men given places on the temporary roll, and the minority recommended that the twelve men on the temporary roll be placed on the permanent roll. The report of the committee also covered contests in Texas, Kentucky, Maryland, South Carolina and North Carolina, and the District of Columbia, but there was no political significance in these contests and the report was unanmous in these cases.

Chairman Cogswell moved that the majority report be adopted. He was loudly cheered by the Harrison delegates. Chauncey I. Filley of Missouri moved

It was a bad break and a large number of the galleries' occupants hissed and some cried "Down." Mr. Bothea became rat-

Cannon of Illinois came to his rescu with a point of order, and, being recognized, asked if, with the galleries hissing delegates speaking on the floor, it were in order to move that the galleries be cleared. Senator Wolcott of Colorado, in speaking for the minority report, warmly denounced the deputy marshals in Alabama and the hundreds of officeholders who were today present in the galleries and in the hall of this convention, crowding out the people's delegatees in their frantic endeavor to renominate the president.

Mr. Wolcott's speech was answered by C. B. Hart of West Virginia, who said that he came from a southern state, and yet he was not an officeholder. He came from West Virginia, which had given Cleveland but 500 majority in 1888, and which would go Republican in 1892. It was difficult to conceive how the five of the minority should have more wisdom than the twenty-five of the majority.

The greatest interest was manifested when Colonel H. M. Duffield of Detroit, the Alger manager, arose to speak in fa-vor of the minority report. His action was interpreted as meaning that the Alger people would vote with the Blaine people in Modern church architecture partakes in a measure of the spirit of other modern architecture. There is less of conservatism there is less respect for older methods, there is a general desire to improve the definite requirements of the problems without reference to what has been done before. The start in this direction was slow. It was like all other movements from the ald things-there was a good deal of resistance.

At one time there was opposition to the heating of church rooms. Even music planations on the part of the employers, ated. The change in church floor plans orig-

THE LUCKY MAN.

"Aunt, what is your true opinion of Bessie Fallington?" Old Mrs. Graham smiled over her gold spectacles at her nephew Cecil, and, with just a touch of humor, asked:

"Why?" "Well, you know I've been paying her some attention"—

"And before committing yourself you wish to get the opinions of your friends." "You state it bluntly, aunt, but I sup-

Death of Sidney Dillon, the Wall Street Magnate.

WAS A SELF-MADE MAN.

Interesting Story of His Life, Showing How Pluck and Perseverance Helped Him in His Struggle Up the Ladder of Fame, Begun at the Age of Seven.

NEW YORK, June 10 .- Sidney Dillon, expresident of the Union Pacific railroad, who has been critically ill for over a week, young man he was a railroed contractor the Nassowanno house. 1866, and he has served in that capacity continuously since. On March 11, 1874, he means of support.

They seemed to have no visible ever, for whom there will be no morning (Isa. viii, 20, R. V). was elected president of the Union Pacific | About a week ago Daniels skipped the Missouri Pacific, of the Western

Mr. Dillon was born May 7, 1812, in Northampton, a little village in the northern part of New York. His parents, who belonged to the poor class of Irish peasantry, emigrated to this country many years previous to his birth. His country school education. Recognizing the almost destitute condition of his parents, young Dillon at the age of 7 determined that he would be a burden no longer; as he afterward expressed it: "I wanted to strike out for myself."

Leaving his father's home he obtained work on a railroad then being built on the Mohawk and Hudson road, between Albany and Schenectady (this road is now

One Dollar a Week and His Meals. After a few years he had managed to accumulate sufficient funds to buy a horse and cart. Then he bethought himself of taking contracts of carrying sand and water on a larger scale for the corporation which he had previously served as a day laborer. Having successively carried out number of horses and carts and undertook heavier tasks, all of which by indomitable energy he completed to the satisfaction of of public buildings' bill was sustained ir his employers and to his own pecuniary benefit.

Soon he was employed by the firm of Jonathan Crane & John T. Clark as foreman, or overseer, upon a contract which they had taken at Sharon on the Boston and Providence railroad. He remained upon this road about two years, until it was finished. He was then employed by the firm of Carmichael, Fairbanks & Otis as foreman and manager upon the Stonington railroad, where he remained until the work was completed, after which he was employed by the same contractors to take charge of some heavy rock work, near Charlton on the Western railroad of Massachusetts.

His Tact and Judgment in the management of work attracted the attention of Captain W. H. Swift, the engineer in charge, and he invited him to attend the next letting upon the road and put in a proposition for work on his own account, promising him that his bid would be considered as favorably as those of the best contractors on the line. Mr. Dillon attended the next letting, as requested, but, having only a limited amount of capital, and feeling somewhat timid, put in a proposition for only a single section, which was afterward allotted to him at Hinsdale, upon the western end of the road, between Washington and the state line of New York.

This was the commencement of Mr. Dilon's career as a contractor. Then came contracts on other roads, including a part of the Cheshire railroad of Vermont, the Vermont and Massachusetts railroad and the Rutland and Burlington and several New York roads. New Jersey, Virginia, Iowa and Louisiana roads before long were being built by Mr. Dillon, and a few years ago it was estimated that he had been engaged on about thirty public works in different parts of the United States and Canadas; that the different works made up an aggregate of at least Omaha. 2500 miles in length, and that the different contracts in which he had been interested amounted in the aggregate to about

In appearance Mr. Dillon was a finely built man, standing 6 feet 3 inches in height and weighing about 220 pounds; his hair and side whiskers were snow white, his complexion ruddy, and although a man of many years, he retained his energetic and cheerful temperament. Mr. Dillon had the reputation of being of Miss Petrolia Bullion-Hogge (from the west)—Of course you know, baron, that a truly sympathetic nature. THE DEN OF LIONS.

LESSON XI, SECOND QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 12.

Text of the Lesson, Dan. vi, 16-28. Memory Verses, 19-22-Golden Text, Dan. vi. 23-Commentary by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

16. "Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel and cast him into the den of lions." After the kingdom passed into the hands of the Medes, Darius made Daniel the first of three presidents over 120 provinces. But the princes and other presidents hated him and sought to accomplish his death, as recorded in the previous part of this chapter. Daniel is fearless of man, and faithfully waits upon his God. The result is that Daniel is cast into the are a hope that it may be so, rather than ered a group with anxious faces—a father, police and advertising largely for it. an assurance that it will be so.

17. "And a stone was brought and laid upon the mouth of the den; and the king sealed it with his own signet." So the ungodly prosper in the world, and the devil is permitted to put the saints of God in prison and ofttimes to kill them (Ps. lxxiii, 12; Rev. ii, 10; John xvi, 2). But

18. "Then the king went to his palace and passed the night fasting." Although the king loved Daniel and labored hard to deliver him (verses 14, 15), yet even the king, with all his power, was powerless against the law, from which let us learn standing upon the sill of a window in grandchildren and fourteen great-grandthat love cannot always deliver, nor can another portion of the house, doubting A Peculiar Transaction Which Makes God, which is holy and just and good, can wait to be overtaken by the fire. not give life nor justify the sinner (Gal. iii,

Thus Darius does the noblest thing any man ever did or could do, he exalts God, he glorifies God before all nations, and speaks of His eternal kingdom. He makes us think of the time when "all kings shall fall down before Him; all nations shall serve Him" (Ps. lxxii, 11; lxxxvi, 9, 10). The News in Quincy.

Authentic news of the ballot was received by the LEDGER from the Minneapolis convention shortly after 7 o'clock last evening and was promptly bulletined. It was the first intelligence which the public received of the nomination of Harrison, no Boston papers with the news having arrived. There was general surprise that the vote of Mr. Blaine was so small, and Republicans with few exceptions expressed themselves as much pleased with the renomination of Harrison. A six column report of the convention appears on the first and fourth pages.

A Catastrophe Averted.

If Columbus had not married a wife with a dowry of geographical lore and found a lowaqueen with plenty of jewelry, this world might have still been nothing but a pan-

Enigma. What's that? what's that? Oh, I shall faint, Call, call the priest to lay it! Transpose it, and to king and saint, And great and good you pay it? Specter; respect.

Answers to puzzles published during he week will appear the following Monday.

gray, You bid me "wish!" before it could depart; Do you remember how I answered, "Nay?" Because there was no wish left in my heart.

Makeshifts.

A little music rack, book shelf or what not which will recommend itself to many woman whose nomadic life makes it impossible for her to possess many belongings, yet who wishes to make her room look homelike and comfortable, is made as follows: Buy a small clotheshorse, which will cost sixty-five cents, threefold and about three feet high. These clothes frames come well finished and in all sizes simply for decorative purposes.

Four shelves which may be made of boxes, if one is handy with the saw and plane, or which will cost about one dollar if got of the carpenter, are needed. These must be smooth, with beveled edges. The top shelf is only half the width of the lower ones. The shelves are hung on the rods of the clothes frames by means of two brass schew hooks in each end; these hook are screwed into the shelves at such dis tances from the edge as will make them fit easily and will hold the frame firmly The exact distance can be ascertained by measuring; if the screws are too long they must be cut off from the under side. Bras knobs, such as are used for curtain poles, etc., are set into the tops of the posts. When the rack is finished it may be stained and varnished or rubbed down and painted white, blue or pink and lined with gold. The shelves are easily unhooked, and the frame folded so as to go into a trunk. Brass rods for curtains may be added if desired.

five votes for William McKinley, Jr., a loss of one to the president by reason of the polling of the delegation. One of the Harrison delegates nan reconsidered and voted for McKinley, and the governor's alternate, it was discovered, had, on the first ballot, actually voted for Harrison in obedience to the previous request of McKinley, although the latter doubtless supposed he Souther's Periodical Store, 1 Granite had disobeyed this injunction and voted for his chief.

When the state of Pennsylvania was called, a minute later, great surprise greeted the convention. Various delegates, who had up to this time apparently been under the leadership of Senator Quay, revolted, and when the result was announced, Harrison than had been expected. Of course, the BREWER'S CORNER-Miss Bartlett's Harrison people cheered tumultously at this announcement, and when South Dakota followed with a solid vote for Harrison, and a little later Texas gave him twenty-two votes, it was apparent that the president would certainly be nominated, and the scene of enthusiasm pro-voked by his followers was unrivalled by any previous incident of the day. Cheers after cheers were given until, fairly falling with exhaustion on the floor, Chairman McKinley, who had suddenly vacated the chair, calling upon Elliot Shepard of New York to preside, pleaded for order, and silence was restored.

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention," said he, "I move that the rules be suspended and that Benjamin Harrison be nominated unanimously."

The motion was seconded by many deleates amid cries of "No" and much con-

The chair recognized Colonel Clarkson of Iowa, who seconded the motion. Senator Wolcott-Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order, that we are on the call of the states, and nobody has a right to make a motion while the rollcall is in progress. There are many more who are not willing to let the judgment of the 3. Woven material and leave coagulastates before them stand as their judgment in this ballot.

Governor McKinley-In reply I desire o say you can suspend any rule you have got by a two-thirds majority, and let us do it now. The Chairman-All in favor of that moion of Governor McKinley to suspend the

Mr. Chairman: At a imeeting of the New York delegation, regularly called in the absence of Senator Miller, I was designated as chairman, and instructed by the unanimous voice of the delegation, to present a name of a distinguished citizen of the state of New York in nomination for vice president. As you all know, the great majority of the delegation, since the opening of this convention, have been working very strenuously for the nomination of a candidate that this convention in its wisdom did not see fit to sanction, but I want to notify the Republican delegates from every part of the United States that that large majority subordinates her personal large majority subordinates her personal views and acquiesces in the wisdom of the convention.

New York state ought to be aided in the great struggle it will have to make to land the state in the Republican column, and I believe the gentleman whom I shall name will aid us materially in accomplishing that purpose.

I will not detain this convention, as General Horace Porter, of the city of New York, will tell this convention the distinguished claims of the gentleman I shall nominate, and I therefore will conclude my labors in behalf of the New York delegation, by placing in nomination for the vice presidency of the United States, Hon. Whitelaw Reid.

General Porter then eulogized the candidate, saying in part: "His name and character and services will give an assurance that he will carry out the policy of the party; that he will stand strong in the affections of his fellow citizens; that he will command the unqualified respect of the party; that he will command the unqualified respect of the party; that he will command the unqualified respect of the party; that he will carry out the policy of the party; that he will carry out the party out the par The Chair-The rules of congress are in all the civilized globe. AT THE WHITE HOUSE. General Enthusiasm Over the News of the President's Renomination. WASHINGTON, June 11.-A kiss given by Miss Jeanatte Halford as she flung her arms about President Harrison's neck at 5:12 oclock last evening announced to him that he had been renominated at the Minneapolis Republican convention for president. The president was in his office across the hall from the telegraph room where the bulletins were being received by an enthusiastic crowd composed of cabinet officers, generals in the United States army, newspaper men and women, attaches of the executive mansion and colored servants. Miss Halford rushed across the hall and saluted the president as she had done four years ago at Indianapolis.

The president was surrounded by Secretaries Tracy, Noble and Rusk, and by Mrs. McKee, Russell Harrison, Mrs. Lieutenant Parker, Lieutenant Parker and other members of his private family. It was a memorable scene.

In a moment Mrs. McKee embraced and kissed her father, Russell Harrison con-gratulated him, Mrs. Parker in her exuberance kissed him also, and all the cabinet officers in the executive mansion rushed to the president's side and heartily congratulated him. They were followed by Mr. Halford and perhaps two dozen newspaper men who had been in the telegraph room for an hour or more previous hearing the news as it came from the wire.

He shook hands with them all and had 182 some pleasant remark to make to them In an informal way the whole party exchanged congratulations. The president seemed to be the coolest person present. He did not in the least betray any emotion, but stood behind his desk with Mrs. McKee at his side, receiving with evident satisfaction the many kind compliments showered upon him. When after some ten minutes' informal talk, the president,

Mr. Depew—Mr. Chairman, I move that when this convention adjourn, it adjourn to meet at 8 o'clock this evening. to meet at 8 o'clock this evening.

Carried. Adjourned.

At the Evening Session

Governor McKinley said: "The order of business is the presentation of candidates for vice president of the United States. The secretary will call the roll of states and tempted, without sparing myself as to labor, to discharge those public duties conscientiously.

We want to assure you that in our opposition to the nomination of the successful candidate there was nothing of a personal nature, and we now recognize the duty of every Republican to bow loyally to the judgment of the convention. We believe, however, that I was unable to find a suitable place for every deserving friend; but I wave insisted that I did not disparage those I wave now to appoint to place. As I have had have never in any case suggested, much less demanded, personal loyalty from anybody. cound not appoint to place. As I have had light and strength, I have tried to discharge my duties for the public good.

I thank you all for the many evidences of your kindness. I wish also to express my thanks, with a heart that overflows with gratitude, to the faithful body of friends who have been so solicitous in my behalf, and, more than that, to that great body of well-disposed, order-loving, patriotic Americans, who have always and everywhere received me kindly.

Secretary Foster came in while the president was delivering this speech, and was hardly able to restrain his enthusiasm until it was concluded. When the president had finished speaking the servants of the mansion pressed forward with their congratulations, and to one of them, self and the visitors left the house.

Mrs. Harrison, who has been an invalid for weeks past, was purposely kept in ignorance of the exciting events of the past week. Now that there was no longer any doubt as to the president's nomination, it was concluded that the good news himself imparted the information, and the on her like a tonic and she was brighter and more cheerful than she has been for several days. The president afterward went out for a drive with Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Dimmick to the Soldiers' home, of the water, the where his grandchildren had passed the New York Sun. day, and he brought them home with him. The Journal: The action of the Repub lican national convention in renominating President Harrison will be approved by the masses of Republicans throughout the country and will be ratified at the polls next November. It is a deserved tribute to an administration which has been pure dignified and efficient and has won the respect and confidence of the great con-

A Necessity.

To build up a new business, to increase or hold on to an old business, judicious advertising is an absolute necessity. It is fully as much of a plan as the water works are carried on. necessity in making a success as the engaging of proper help or the selection of just the right location for the office and salesroom.

Advertising becomes a luxury only when injudiciously done. Then it is a luxury, indeed, and often a pretty expensive one.

The business man can easily make the necessity pay well or the luxury costly.

A True Heart.

Red are the lips of my darling, my dear, Sweet are the lips of my own; Love like a bee at her budding m Drunken with passion before he has flown.

But oh, and oh,

Red lips will pale some day,

While a true heart lasts for aye. Gray are the eyes of my darling, my dear, Bright are the eyes of my queen; Fond as the dreaming of tropical skies Glad as the rivulet's midsummer sheen. But oh, and oh, Bright eyes will dim some day,

While a true heart lasts for aye. Brown is this tress of my darling, my dear, Brown is this tress of my darring, my dear,
Silken this tress of my fair;
Brown with a hint of the sun's tenderness
Twined in the strands of her beautiful hair.
But oh, and oh,
Street helder will this game day.

Sweet locks will thin some day While a true heart wears for aye. Praises belong to my darling, my dear, Love is but due to my sweet;
So here I pluck from the garden of song
This tiny blossom to throw at her feet.
But oh, and oh,
Beauty will fade some day, While a true heart lasts for aye.

PUZZLING PROBLEM SOLVED

By the Complete Exploration of Lake Albert Edward-Magnificent Chain of Of-Other Interesting Discoveries.

NEW YORK, June 13 .- While all sorts of rumors have been affoat about Emin Boston Pasha, and while he has been repeatedly reported to have succumbed to his hardships, news comes at last from a perfectly authentic source that he has made some extremely interesting geographical discoveries. This news comes from Dr. Stuhlmann, who was Emin's comrade on WOLLASTON-Depot and C. F. The cuckoo is the subject of the oldes nglish song which has been preserved om the earlier part of the Thirteenth cen iry, and is remarkable for being accon panied by musical notes, thus forming the oldest example of English secular music The words of the original have been thus translated into modern English: Summer is come in,

Can remember

Loud sing cuckoo; Grows the seed, and blooms the mead, And sprouts the wood now, Sing cuckoo.

The ewe bleats after the lamb, The cow lows after the calf, The bullock leaps, the buck verts; Merrily sing cuckoo, Cease thou never to sing, cuckoo.

Well singest thou, cuckoo;

In Derbyshire, a very prevalent rhyme runs as follows: The cuckoo is a merry bird.

She sings as she flies;
She brings us good tidings,
And tells no lies.
She sucks little birds' eggs, To make her voice clear. That she may sing cuckoo Three months in the year.

THE HELPING HAND.

Action Brought by Subscribers to Wind Up the Affairs of the Order. Boston, June 14.-The war against the short term endowment orders is about over, owing to the fact that most of the corporations have gone out of business, and an attack has now been begun against the long term orders. The latest concern to be brought into court is the Order of the Helping Hand, a five year order, which has its principal office in Lynn. In the equity session of the superior court D. E. Gould and John A. Noonan, representing Dora H. Chapman and several others, applied to the court for an injunction against the order named, and for a receiver.

The order pays sick benefits, and promises to pay $1000 in five years. It also agrees in its certificate to pay a certain proportion of the face value of the certificate after 21-2 years. The plaintiffs say that the supreme officers have called an assessment for the general fund. The plaintiffs contend that the assessment is illegally levied, and ask that the order be wound up and its assets distributed. The case presents several new questions of law

First, whether an order has a right to pay cash-surrender certificates after 21-2 years. Second, whether it has a right to years. Second, whether it has a right to return to representatives of deceased members the amount of assessments read SHORE DINNERS, members the amount of assessments paid in. Third, whether it has a right, after it has adopted an expense assessment plan, to return to a per capita tax for payment of expenses. Fourth, whether after having levied expense assessment, it can use it for other purposes than the payment of reasonable necessary expenses. The order has about 5000 members and has been active against legislation this session. The hearing is unfinished.

THE MAVERICK BANK CASE.

Newly Discovered Errors Cause Two In dictments to Be Nol Pros'd. Boston, June 14.-United States District Attorney Allen has nol pros'd two of the indictments returned by the grand jury against the Maverick bank officials. The first is No. 478, which charges Mr. and no vote, On cross-examination by Mr. Huriburt, witness said there were 158 applications for licenses, and only forty four could be granted.

Potter with misapplying $39,000. The first count alleged the misapplication of $25,000 by means of a note, and then in setting out the note one for $14,000, signed by William A. Connolly, was inserted. The second count alleged the misapplication of $14,000 and a note for $25,000 signed by Connolly was inserted. This was an error so manifest that nothing was left for the district attorney but to nol pros which he has done.

The other indictment charges Messrs Potter, French and Dana with conspiracy to defraud the bank by having credited to their accounts the sums of $25,000, $35,000 and $6570 by means of notes signed by W. A. Connolly, Fred G. Jewett and E. H. Pearson. In this indictment the offense was alleged to have been committed in 1890, and the facts alleged in proof were alleged to have been committed in 1891. This was a fatal error and Mr. Allen has therefore nol pros'd the indictment.

Mr. Dalzell (Rep.) who has just returned from Minneapolis, is elated over the nomination of Harrison. He said it was not on the cards to beat the president at any time. The market house meeting was both harmonious and unanimous, and practically settled the question. He further stated that he had never known of such consummate generalship in a national onvention. THE HOT WAVE.

Yes, it is hot! There can be no doubt about it! Every one agrees on this point Much too hot to enjoy life.

The hot wave struck Quincy Sunday, and drove many to the beaches for a breath of cool air. The hottest part of Sunday was about 4 o'clock P. M., after that a slight breeze sprung up, and it became cooler, being quite comfortable in the evening.

Monday morning gave promise of being another hot day, and a rush was made to take off winter flannels. The storekeepers filled up their counters with straw hats, in anticipation of a good trade in this line of goods, and in this their anticipation was their pastor, Rev. J. H. Yeoman, a present realized. As the day wore on it seemed to grow still hotter, and at noon the glass Democratic vote in the pivotal states in showed 97, or about 30 degrees above normal, which the weather men at the post office building in Boston say should be 65. BIG BLAZE IN BALTIMORE.

Warehouses, Ships and Merchandise Damaged to the Extent of $1,000,000. BALTIMORE, June 15 .- A fire broke out on the old Bay Line wharf at the foot of Union dock. The freight shed of the Bay Line company was fully stocked with cotton and general merchandise consigned to foreign firms. The fire is thought to have originated in the cotton by spontaneous combustion. The flames spread very rapidly. Intense excitement reigned along the entire water front. The Bay Line wharf was destroyed. The wharf had on it a large warehouse, a big laundry and a new office building. The fine Bay Line steamer Carolina and the freight steamer Gaston were badly damaged. Lying at Cochian Oler's wharf, southeast of the burning pier, were the fine four-masted ice schooners Wesley Oier, Mamie How-ard and William Wirt. The flames caught the rigging of the schooners, eating at the masts and sills. Tugs towed the burning vessels to safety.

Lying at the Cochran-Oler wharf, north of the three schooners, was the fourmasted schooner Augustus Welt. It was a magnificent specimen of marine archi-tecture, and arrived from Bath, Me., with a cargo of ice for Cochran & Oler. A sheet of flame shot from the burning wharf and soon the Welt was a mass of fire. The Welt's rigging and cordage were burned away, her masts and hull charred and the vessel was soon a blackened wreck. The estimated damage to the schooner is $25,-000. BANGOR, Me., June 15.—The most de-structive storm that has visited this section for years swept over Bangor shortly after 5 o'clock last evening. While the general character of the storm was that of an ordinary thunder shower, it was ac-companied by a cyclone which swept a narrow path from west to east, leaving death and destruction in its wake. The steamer Annie, Captain Atwood, was passing up the river when the cystroyed.

The fine brick office buildings of the Baltimore Steam Packet company on the Union dock were completely gutted. The packing house of W. E. Hoyer & Son was considerably scorched. A quantity of whisky on the wharf, awaiting shipment to Germany, was also destroyed.

Madeline Adams of this city was drowned, and it is thought that several others lost their lives. It is generally stated that there were twenty people, all told, on board the steamer, and there is reason to believe that several others beside Miss believe that several others beside Miss Boston, June 15.—Judges Putnam and Nelson in the United States court of appeals directed that a mandate be sent down forthwith to the circuit court in the Receiver Beal. clone struck, and was immediately capsized. and several persons injured.

The damage in outlying country districts is immense, lightning having set fire to many farm blildings in many locali-ties, while houses and barns were unroofed and growing crops destroyed.

Fruit trees suffered severely, and in many places roads were washed out and carriages blown from the highway. Every pane of glass in the cars of the incoming Bangor and Piscataquis train was demolished by the cyclone. Telegraph and telephone wires are prostrated in all directions, and general destruction is re-ported in the path of the storm, which was of short duration, and went as suddenly as it came.

Symptoms. — Dizziness, weariness, with nervous, irresolute feeling, irritability, no energy, loss of memory, despondency and low spirits, trembling, caused by slight excitement, sleeplessness, poor appetite, and, frequently, palpitation.

The causes of nervous debility are many: overwork, lack of bodily exercise, insufficient rest and nourishment, absence of amusement, loss of vitality, etc. The results, however, are the same: poor circulation of blood, impaired digestion, deranged nervous system; the heart loses force, the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels fail to perform their functions. A City Courtship.

The proper place for courting, With the sweetness blowing over From the fields of beans and clover, And the skylark dropping nestward as the sun goes down.

But I've met my little Sally At the mouth of Dawson's alley, And we've walked along together tow'rd the dome of Paul's, 'Mid the jostly crowd that passes

'Neath the flaring lamps and gases, And the shouting of the drivers and the news boys' calls. And the lily of the valley

That I gave my little Sally Was the faded penny bouquet that a flower girl She has never seen one growing,

As it's easy to be showing, For its birthplace is the Dreamland that's be-yond Bow Bells.

Oh, it pains me in our walking-All the oaths and shameful talking, And the folks that brush her passing, and the glances bold! But though evil things may touch her, They can never hurt or smutch her, For she turns the dirt to sweetness, as a flower

Nay, it's not in country places,
'Mid the fields and simple faces,
Out of sight and sound of evil, that a pure heart grows; It is here in London city,

In the sin and shame and pity:

For the pure heart draws its pureness from the wrong it knows.

When my Sally's sweetness found me, I was like the men around me—
I was coarse and low and selfish as the beas that dies; But her grace began to win me,

And my heart was changed within me, And I learned to pray from gazing in my darling's eyes.

LECTURE ON LIGHTHOUSES.

T. H. Lydon of the Long Island Light Before a Wollaston Audience.

Mr. T. H. Lydon, the keeper of Long Island light, Boston Harbor, and a former resident of Wollaston in its early days, gave an interesting address on lighthouses before the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at the Wollaston Congregational church vestry Wednesday evening. Mr. Lydon said, after giving a brief sketch of the early lighthouses: Boston light lens | Wednesday. is made up of twelve sections, with a bullseye in the centre of each, and makes a revolution once in six minutes. This gives a flash of ten seconds and an eclipse of wenty. There are six sizes of lenses and they are designated first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth orders. The largest, or first order, is six feet in diameter and nine feet high, using a lamp with five wicks, which gives light from four or five feet of wicking. About five gallons of oil on an average each night are consumed.

Primary or first order lights are to assist ocean-going vessels in determining the part of the coast they are on. After making the coast they look out for the inner or second order lights. Afterwards, as they approach the port, they are guided by the harbor

Habitual slovenliness n a keeper involves his inevitable removal.

It is not generally recognized that the position of a keeper is one of very grave responsibility. I have seen passing my station in one day more than 700 vessels of all kinds, not reckoning small boats; and when you consider that every vessel and every life on the vessels depends more or less on the lights, I think that you will be ready to concede that there is a tremendous sight of responsibility on the shoulders of a light keeper.

A Thunder Storm Rages Over New England.

THE DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

At Many Points in the Different States. Finding Escape Impossible, Murderer 15, 1891, and Corporal Moore of Lee. Cahill Surrenders-The Maine Lumber Drives-Regimental Meeting at Worcester-Other Interesting New Eng-

Boston, June 18.—The thunder storm that burst upon New England yesterday afternoon was of brief duration and furious while it lasted. Its effects were most serious at some distance from Boston, but in the city and the immediate vicinity, outside of its dampening effect upon the outside of its dampening effect upon the ardor of the holiday, it occasioned considerable damage. The lightning and the wind divided the responsibility about equally between them. Telephones and telegraph instruments did not work the kennebec, not a log remaining behind. It is expected that about one-half of the Moose river drive of 50,000,000 feet will be gotten into the lake during the next week. tric forces in the atmosphere as they did before. There was trouble at several of the suburban exchanges, and in some instances all communication by the tele-phone was suspended. The police signal service was seriously crippled.

An old engine house at the Marine park
South Boston, belonging to the contractors, was struck by lightning and com-pletely demolished. The bolt cut the building in halves, and toppled them over, from a wharf near the Marine park pier into the water. A large tree on Washington street, near Northampton, was blown down, and one of the limbs fell across a West End trolley wire. An employe of the road cut the limb, and the broken live wire fell upon a horse owned by the railroad, killing it instantly.

In the harbor no damage was reported.

The yachts, however, which swarmed in its waters, were in a tight fix for a short time, and there were many narrow escapes from disaster.

The Effect in Suburban Boston. The wind and rain storm which passed over Lynn, although of short duration, flowed from the Highland district into the hill to a depth of six inches, completely deluging Central square, where the catch basins were flooded. In the central depot the tracks were submerged nearly a foot.

At Melrose Highlands it struck the house of George J. Bicknell, running through an upper room and tearing the plastering and woodwork. All the family felt the shock more or less, and Mrs. Engiueer Lear of the fire department, the roof. Lightning also struck at the corner of Main street and Wyoming avenue, and a broken water main was the result. Streets were washed out, and the damage will be heavy in the hilly districts.

At Beverly, during the storm, lightning was incessant, and struck in several places, while thunder roared like artillery. The storm at Malden yesterday was the most terrific known for a long time. Streets were washed out, telephone and telegraph connections destroyed, and considerable damage was inflicted to trees and shrubbery. There was a washout on the Eastern division of the Boston and other hard places. Thirty million have passed through Chesuncook lake. HIS VICTIM IS DEAD.

Finding Escape Impossible, Murderer Cahill Surrender.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 18.—David Cahill, the murderer of Mrs. Michael Larkin of Hatfield, for whom searching parties have been scouring the country all day, came here early last evening, and, going to the county Jail, gave himself up.

Traces of his whereabouts were discovered by some Hatfield farmers who hapraged with fury and wrought extensive pened to go to a tobacco barn in a field not damage. The rain fell in torrents. Water far from the house where the nurder was committed, and saw Cahill run out and center of the city in floods, coursing take to the woods. Word was sent to this through the streets on the slope of the city for officers, who with other parties had him virtually surrounded.

The fugitive followed the Connecticut River railroad track down to this city, a distance of about three miles, feeling that Bay View, Beacon hill and Henry avenue, streets with macadamized surfaces, were badly damaged.

he could not escape capture. He seemed to be completely overcome with remorse. Mrs. Larkin died vesterday after-At Salem and vicinity much rain fell, noon from the effects of the bullet and there was abundance of thunder and wounds. It is now learned that Cahill had lightning. The lightning struck the house of William Luscomb in North Salem, ripping off a few clapboards and not have been the motive for committing gave Mr. Luscomb considerable of a shock. It also struck a street railway feed wire, doing some little damage. The cars were some temporary altercation seems to be the most reasonable one.

It Will Try to Secure an Agreement on

River and Harbor Bill. WASHINGTON, June 18.-Mr. Bianchard of Louisiana submitted the conference report on the river and harbor bill. The report is a disagreeing one in regard to two senate amendments. The conferees state that it is impossible to reach an agreement on all other amendments. > In the Lords. The house of lords presented a spectacle of courtly splendor, the occasion being the introduction of the Duke of York as a member of the house of peers. There was an unusual gathering of peers to witness the ceremony. The Duke of York was accompanied by his father, the Prince of Wales, and his uncle, the Duke of Connaught, whowere his introducers.

What the Globe Says. The Globe thinks the action of Chauncey M. Depew in attending the Redmond meeting in New York is very significant. It says: Mr. Depew is one of President Harrison's principal backers, and, considering the importance of the Irish vote, he would hardly have attended a Par-nellite meeting if he thought his action would offend the bulk of the American Irish. We may therefore conclude that the American Irish are mostly Parnellite sympathizers.

Difficulties of the Liberal. The Gladstonian organs, The Pall Mall Sazette, and others, confess that there are difficulties menacing the Liberal's chances of success in Mr. Gladstone's attitude toward the eight-hour and church disestabtishment question, and the open party scorn of the womans' suffrage movement. MOONRISE.

I see a stretch of shining sky
Like some fair ocean sunset lit.
Peaceful and wide its spaces lie,
And purple shores encompass it.
A little slender silver boat Upon its bosom is afloat.

This craft, unstaid by winds or tides,
Slips out across the twilight bar;
Through rosy ripples, soft she glides,
Led by a single pilot star;
With shadowy sails and fairy crew,
She drifts along the summer blue.

She's filled from stem to stern with flowers
And Love and Hope and Happiness.
Will aught of what she brings be ours?
About if we could only guess! Ah me! if we could only guess!

She rides clusive and remote.

This little slender silver boat.

Five years from that day a young man was seen hastening up the hillside to Oestruo. He had a big slouch hat on his head and he was well dressed.

His face was strong, square and determined, his eyes danced with joy, for in his pocket he had a royal marriage license, with which he meant to surprise somebody up at Oestruo's farm. It was five years today since he !eft her, and it was five years she had promised to wait

For this hour he had toiled, saved and suffered for five long weary years. He had been a silver miner in Leadville when the place was yet new, and he had sold his claim for $50,000.

As he was hurrying along, an old woman, who was sitting by the roadside, hailed him.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The Cleveland leaddelegates from the Syracuse convention, state committee, appointed at Syracuse, and Miles Ross, national committeeman from New Jersey, together with Frederick A. Fuller of Jamestown, N. Y..

The manifesto issued by Edward Mur-phy on behalf of the Hill forces was also talked over. Subsequently Mr. Whitney and is an able or said: "In his interview Mr. Murphy office at present. seems desirous of giving the impression that the leaders of the May convention movement have been in the habit of op-posing Democratic state tickets in New York, and particulary that 1891. I can say to Mr. Murphy that the facts are to both himself and the state committee were very anxious to make the fact as prominent as possible that Mr. Fairchild and his friends were warmly supporting Governor Flower as well as the Democratic state and legislahe forget that I prepared that paper and procured signatures that it was considered No. 195.—Behead and Curtail.

I am a bird. Behead me and I am some one who loves. Behead me again and I am not under. Curtail me and add a let was finally given out by that committee with the statement that it was one of the most important events of the campaign? Among the signers to this document were seven gentlemen who are now delegates from the Syracuse convention to Chicago. According to Mr. Murphy the rank and file of the Democratic party are prepared to vote against the most popular Demo-crat in the country for the presidency be-cause they feel his election would please the Syracuse delegation. To this we may say that if Mr. Murphy believes what he says, then he regards his own followers as mugwumps rather than Democrats. His interview is an insult to the regular Democracy of the state of New York.

"There are two men prominent in the Hill organization who are regarded with suspicion by the Democracy in general. These men are Murphy himself and Lieutenant Governor Sheehan. There is a general impression in the state of New York that they were treacherous to the national ticket in 1888, and I think it not unlikely that they will be so again this year if they do not happen to be pleased with the nomination made. But they will not be able to carry with them as many Democrats as they were before.

Every Democrat in the state of New York will vote for Mr. Cleveland if nom-inated, and he can hold an independent and Republican vote of a size never hefore known in a national campaign. Nobody else can do this, nor come anywhere near it, for that reason, although there are many Democrats whom I would have personally preferred to Cleveland for the presidential nomination. I have no doubt that he is by far the most available candidate of the state of New York.

Delegate Woodward of the Ninth con-gressional district of New York, who has been one of the active members of the executive committee in New York, said regarding Muryhy's manifesto: "I cannot see anything in it, except the usual game of bluff, which Tammany Hall and Mr. Cleveland and Tilden's opponents tried ineffectually in 1876 and 1884."

It had been intended to hold a caucus of few of the delegates are on the ground that Chairman Taggart decided to make no effort to get them together until Mon-day morning, when their course in the convention will be decided upon. Chairman Taggart favored the enforcement of the unit rule in the delegation. This decision would deliver it over bodily to Cleveland, as the Cleveland element is in

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE.

Hot Weather and Hot Politics Affect

Business at Many Points. NEW YORK, June 18 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that hot weather and hot politics have affected business at many points, but there is nevertheless improvement both in actual trade and in prospect. At the east the be found. demand for manufactured products is large for the season, and the settlement of many labor controversies helps, especially in building trades, while the fear of a long strike in western iron works also stimulates purchases of iron and steel products. Political movements have much encouraged conservative men with regard to the monetary futures.

Trade is fairly active at Boston, with large sales of print cloths and reduction in bleached shirtings, while woolens are reasonably quiet and the shoe trade excellent, though orders are temporarily checked by western floods. Leather is very firm and another advance in sole is expected. Rubber shoes are steady, with orders for weeks ahead; rubber is firm and active, and sales of wool are 2,500,000 pounds, with encouraging prospects.

The great manufacturers are doing well for the season, shipments of shoes exceeding last year's by 2 per cent. Dealers in hides propose an agreement, but cattle re-ceipts at Chicago for the year show an in-crease of 15.7 per cent. Cotton spinners are taking more cotton than a year ago, and unsold stocks of goods are comparatively small. Exports of products continue heavy, for half of June 23 1-2 per cent. larger from New York than last year, with a moderate increase of imports. Money is everywhere abundant and unusually cheap, and complaints of collections fewer than usual.

LESSON III.—Topic, "God's works and word" (Ps. xix, 1, 14). Golden Text, "The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul" (Ps. xix, 7). In verses 1 to 6 we have God glorified in creation, and in all His works. In verses 7 to 11 God is glorified in His word. Verses 12 to 14 give David's prayer to be kept from sin and to please God in word and in thought. The three books of this psalm are Creation, Scripture and Con science, which, as some one has said, probably constituted David's whole library. Although Creation gives but a silent testimony it is a most powerful one, so also is that of a quiet but holy life. The Book of Scripture gives conversion, wisdom. joy light and everlasting righteousness.

Joe Kelly, an old settler, who resides on Stevens creek, tells a legend about an American soldier who was lured to his death by a beautiful Indian maiden, the daughter of a chief of a tribe which once owned the country around Cupertino. Mr. Kelly claims that these apparitions were often seen around here in the forties and early fifties and says their present activity is caused by their resting place being disturbed by some of the buildings that have lately been erected. In the fight that took place when the soldier found he was betrayed before the Indians killed him, two braves, his treacherous sweetheart and another Indian maiden met their doom; hence the five specters that are now disturbng our peace.—San Jose (Cal.) Cleveland fails to receive the nomination in the enthusiasm of the opening ballot he will, on the succeeding ballots, show loss instead of gains, and the disintegra-tion of his force will be only a question of time. But the day has shown that the Cleveland forces are swelling rather than liminishing, and the rank and file of the Cleveland forces are asserting that the ex-president is the candidate of the nation, nd that his destiny is above the sway of any particular state of faction.

Fun in the Lobbies.

Violent altercations are of frequent oc-currence in the lobbies of the leading notels and all the enthusiasm of the hour is with Cleveland. The Tammany men who have so constantly warned the Democrats that the nomination of Cleveland New York are waved majestically away by the Cleveland enthusiasts, who deand Russell, so frequently discussed a day or two ago as dark horses, are scarcely mentioned in the political predictions. To a friend who the political arena unless Cleveland shall fail of a nomination on the first ballot. The Illinois delegation, under the direcion of General Palmer, will vote for Grover Cleveland on the first ballot, and probably on various succeeding ballots, so ong as the ex-president shall be in th race. This announcement, which is officially made from the Illinois headquarters, has given a great impetus to the Cleveland movement, and the leaders of the ex-president are asserting with great onfidence that they have now assurances of the two-thirds vote necessary for the nomination. Indiana has given unmistakable evidence that Gray will hardly receive more than seventeen or eighteen otes, the remaining twelve or thirteen peing cast for Cleveland.

As ex-Governor Campbell has anland people rely upon thirteen votes of Ohio being cast for the ex-president. So that from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio Allen B. Morse of the state supreme alone, there seems assured for Cleveland over seventy votes which appeared to be wavering. Kentucky still looms up as an of the ex-president are not yet relying imlicitly upon a very substantial support rom the Blue Grass state. Iowa is still true to Boies, and even the most sanguine Cleveland leaders have abandoned hopes of receiving any support from the Hawk-eye state on the first ballot.

The seventy-two votes of New York are onceded to Senator Hill, and it appears probable that he may receive a couple of undred more from various sections of the union. There has been a marked subsidence, too, in the Morrison boom. The friends of the ex-leader of the house of representatives maintain that it is the desire of Colonel Morrison that the Illinois delegation should support Grover Cleveland loyally as long as there is a probability of his nomination.

The forty-eight votes of Illinois have

New England Delegations.

The Massachusetts delegates arrived last evening and reported the Cleveland sentiment almost overwhelmingly pre-ponderant. Cleveland and four for Hill, but they "hoped" to vote as a unit. Two of the four Hill votes are from Congressman O'Neil's district. There are several men in the delegation who have doubts as to Mr. Cleveland's ability to carry New York, but as one of them said: "None of San Francisco. vote on the first ballot. They are, some how, imbued with the conviction, and us could have come here if we had not Ex-Representative Russell, who was in company with Patrick Collins, said Massachusetts is a go-as-you-please delegation and does not have a unit rule. "And you go to wards whom?"

"Towards Cleveland almost unani-nously," was the response. Patrick Maguire, whose word goes in Boston politics, re-echoed the Cleveland sentiment.

The Maine delegation got in at an early hour this morning. They are unin-structed, and according to the state-ment of some of the leading delegates, they have not been able to unite upon a candidate. Their state platform commits them strongly to taxation for revenue only, the repeal of the McKinley bill, and the admission of all raw material free, so EXTRA QUALITYmeans the loss of the electoral vote of as to utilize the immense unused water power of the state, and to develop its numerous safe harbors. The Vermont delegation arrived early relations; no man could be so free in his remarks as Mr. Depew had been if he was on the point of Boies, and the situation is cleared up to carry New York. Dr. John G. Hanrahan, chairman of the delegation, says the other seven votes from the Green Mountain state are for Cleveland. The delegation came on with delegates from Maine and New Hampshire. At Niagara the men in the train were polled, the result being: Cleveland, 70; Hill, 4; and Boies, 1

Other Delegations. The Pennsylvania delegation is pledged olidly for Cleveland, and Mr. Harrity says it will give sixty-four votes to the ex-president on the first ballot. There is, however, a minority disposed to take a stand against giving the delegation unanimously to Cleveland. It is probable that eight to ten about represent the number of votes which, in the event of departure from the unit rule, would go against the ex-president.

> This being the case why not lay aside personal feelings and help along the good cause by doing unto others as you would be done by. There is one little incident that came to my notice the other evening that will serve as an illustration of the industriousness of Atlantic's citizens.

I was on my way to take the 9.30 P. M. upward electric when I was aroused from avenue my dreams by a noise that sounded like someone driving nails. I began an investigation and soon discovered two men on the roof of a barn, one of the two holding a antern while the other was shingling. I aquired about the case, of a friend, who informed me that the gentleman worked all day and devoted his nights to building himself a stable, all the work having been done after sundown.

Speaking of Hancock hall reminds me of what a variety of uses that building has been put to. It was erected and used as a church by the Congregationalists until the completion of their present edifice, in 1871. The steeple was then torn down and the upper or Hancock street floor, used as an armory by the McClellan guards, who disbanded in 1873; at the same time the base ment being occupied as a boot shop.

It is no longer a supremely important question how Christianity came nto the world 2000 years ago. The real Answers to puzzles of last week question is: Can the highest moral and social and spiritual life be maintained to day without Christianity?

"To the maintenance of the highest ideal of human life three things are neccessary: First, the ideal must be definite, personal and real. Christianity finds this personal ideal in the historical Christ. Second, the ideal life must be systematically cultivated. Christianity provides for this in its sacred literature and its regular worship. Third, the ideal life must be supported by enthusiastic association, This fellowship in the highest aims is the meaning of the church.

"Christianity alone affords these three essential conditions of the maintenance of human life upon the highest plane; Christ is the person, the Bible is the literature, prayer is the exercise, the church is the institution that keeps the ideal life clear before our eyes and warm within our

THE HIND PARTY. Suggestion That the Farmers' Alliance

prints the following from Chicago: A question of great importance, and one that is now receiving the careful attention of Democratic leaders, is the possibility that in the election next November the socalled third party may succeed in carry-ing enough states to control the balance of power in the electoral college.

Lawrence Gardner, secretary of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, has given this subject a great deal of thought, and has made some significant figures showing the possible outcome of a chain of circumstances which might throw the choice of the next president into the house of representatives, under the opera-tion of the constitutional provision.

To the World correspondent Mr. Gardner said: The third party is composed of the Farmers' Alliance and many other smaller organizations, the membership of which is largely made up of agriculturalists and laboring men. It will hold its national convention at Omaha next month. A presidential ticket will be put in the field, and in a number of western and southern states full tickets of state officers will also be nominated. This would give an aggregate of fortynine votes and would ensure absolute control of the action of the electoral college. But even with a smaller number of elec-toral votes the third party leaders will be able to throw the election into the house. It is, therefore, highly important for us to prepare to meet the plans now being made to strengthen and perpetuate an organization which is drawing its vote in several states largely from the Democratic | At Pawtucket-Pawtucket, 4; Woon-Bismarck Will Not Accept Office.

A STRIKE.

Hushed the hammer and mallet, Hushed the pick and the drill: The work and the wage of the quarries

Stopped by a word at will. Men with a grim decision Written on lip and brow; Yesterday, all was action, Silence and waiting now.

Vessels lying at anchor, Loaded with stone rough-hewn; Silence brooding above them, Silence, with curses strewn. The strong arm limp and nerveless,

The full purse like the lean; Somewhere, God knows, a blunder, As the angels watch unseen. The angels watch and wonder,

Ponders the strange condition With pulses that throb with fear. The wrong and the right about it Are strangely mixed in her mind, For she rests her faith on the God above,

And the woman who feels them near,

And over and over she murmurs, Pondering late and soon, The terrible strike, it must fall alike On the babes whom the mothers croon,

And not on a fate unkind.

And on women heavy-hearted,

From the hearth who never roam: Whatever the men do, surely, It's hard on the women at home. Women who face the future. And hearken to phrases glib, With the thought of an empty cupboard,

And a moan from the baby's crib.

Oh! the tools of labor, idle, And rusting in deso'ate shops, Mean grief to the women and children, From the day that the hammer drops. -Margaret E. Sangster, in Christian In-

At that point is a deep cut, and as the result of a hard rain and a bad washout, the engine, express and baggage cars took a fearful plunge of forty feet into the cut below. The two cars were piled on top of the engine.

Every person in the train was more or less injured, but their names have not yet been reported. When the frightened passengers left the train and went to the assistance of those who had been carried lown with the engine and cars, they looked upon a scene of death. Every one of the men who took the plunge into the at were killed. The division officers of the Grand Trunk

The Chairman asked what the pleasure Mr. White of Calton and State Defeat States Favor The Chairman asked what the pleasure New York, and we want the Democracy New York, and we want the Democracy to name some man—any man who can Form a Permanent Organization-Detailed Account of the Day's Doings.

At 12:30 o'clock Chairman Brice of the national committee took his place on the platform, and at 12:46 he rapped for order. When all was quiet, he introduced Rev. Dr. John Russ of Chicago, who offered prayer. The invocation concluded with porary organization.

The national committee reported the following List of Officers for temporary organization: Chairman, Hon. William C. Owens of Kentucky; secretary, S. P. Sheerin of Indiana; assistant secretaries, L. Merritt of Illinois, W. A. Doyle of Pennsylvania, Hambleton Shepard of Virginia, Clinton Tillery of Missouri, L. E. Rowley of Michigan, Robert E. Wilson of Mississippi, Charles R. Defreest of New York, Charles J. J. Lyon of Tennessee; sergeant-at-arms, S.J. Bright of Indiana; stenographer, E. B. Dickinson of

The temporary officers were unani-mously elected and a committee was appointed to escort Mr. Owens to the chair. As he surrendered the gavel to the temporary chairman cheers were given for Mr. Brice, who bowed in acknowledge-ment. Mr. Owens then began his speech Temporary Chairman Owens' Speech. Two great dangers menace the Democratic party. One is external, the other internal. The first is the organized machinery of organ-ized capital, supported by the whole power of the government. The second is a tendency among Democrats to make issues among them-selves. Two needs therefore stand before us indispensible to success—unity and harmony. Of the one, this chair and gavel stand representative; it remains for you to supply the other. In this spirit I greet you, fellow Demo-crats, as the advance guard of a grand army, sent forward to blaze a pathway to victory. How momentous is your responsibility I need not tell you. If your work be done in wisdom the millions toiling in mine and shop and field will rise and call you blessed. The rollcall of the republic attests that its heart and concience are with us in our war with the representatives of greed.

The best thought of our party is a platform that challenges the approbation and invites the support of the people. We can succeed we must do more; we must deserve success. Above the wreck, if need be, of selfish combinations, we must rear a temple to the plain people and build a shrine so broad that there every lover of his kind may kneel. The burden must be lifted from the back of labor, and to that end it has a right to demand that when its reading was finished it was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Swett of the Maine delegation, in behalf of the Democracy of Maine, thanked the delegates for the sympathy it had extended to the distinguished residuent of their state. o that end it has a right to demand that whoever bears our banner must lift it above the conflict and the din of faction, that every Democrat of the union may follow its lead in exultant and irresistible combat. Let us not mistake. The gravity of the situation de-mands the broadest patriotism and every

The "study of the cornfield," begun in the west and south, must be carried into every hamlet of the east and north. The people must learn their true relation to the tax-gatherer. They must learn that no railroad presidents champion the tribunes of the people; that no taskmasters write our tariff bills. They must learn, too, that for private and political advantage their country was menaced by the threat of war, and they will learn with shame and regret that the very day the warlike proclamation of their very day the warlike proclamation of their De

A sub-committee was appointed, headed by ex-Senator Thomas Patterson of Colorado, for the purpose of elegates to the committee on resolutions. It was decided that in case the platform ommittee refused to recommend a free coinage bimetallic plank an appeal should be taken to the convention. There was much talk among the delegates present about throwing the support of the silver states to the People's Party in case the Democratic convention should not comply with the demands of the silver interests, and it is probable that representatives of the silver states will wait upon the convention of that party at Omaha on July 4 with that purpose in view.

Most of these referrred to the tariff and silver questions, the tariff resolutions being of a decidedly radical character and declaring in substance for tariff for revenue only. There were half a dozen resolutions introduced on the finance question, those from the silver states and some of the southern states being emphatic declarations for free and unlimited coinage of silver; but those from the eastern states usually disposed of the subject by a demand for

A Small Death Rate.

City Clerk Spear reports 150 deaths in this city for the five months ending May 31. This is an increase from 128 of 1891, but as 360 deaths a year is only 18 per 1000 in a population of 20,000 we can congratulate ourselves that Quincy is a remarkable healthy city.

A Newspaper in an Earthquake. Probably no issue of a newspaper was ever put in type under more trying circumstances than this issue. The type was badly pied, and as it was put in position it was necessary to wedge it securely to keep each shock from undoing the work of days. The compositors stood bravely at their posts, even in moments of the greatest danger, when the brick walls threatened to collapse and bury them in the ruins. We were compelled to move our office after Thursday's shock, and much more damage was done, but we, after all, were delayed but three or four hours with our edition. - Dixon (Cal.) Tribune.

A meeting was held at Democratic headquarters by colored Democrats from all parts of the country under the auspices of the negro national Democratic committee Many of those present claimed to be Republicans, but said the treatment of the colored race by President Harrison did not meet their views of justice. They said they desired henceforth to enter the Democratic fold. W. J. Scott of Illinois was made chairman. Among the prominent colored men present were Dr. J.E.W. Thompson, minister to Hayti under President Cleveland: C. H. J. Taylor, ex-minister to Liberia; Henry F. Downing, exminister to St. Paul de Leona; Hon. J. Milton Turner, Missouri; F. C. Lawson, colored representative of Tammany Hall; W. H. Johnson of New York and Senator James A. Ross of Iowa. Addresses on the ill-treatment of the colored people were made by Messrs. Johnson, Turner, Ross and Taylor. Mr. Johnson said:

We are here because we believe the Republican party has outlived its usefulness, at least so far as it relates to the negro, and that it is our duty to east about for a safer and more sure anchorage. We believe that Grover Cleveland, when president, gave the best as-surance possible that under Democratic rule the Afro-American's best interests, his liberty and happiness, were fully conserved. The tivil, public and political rights of my race were never better conserved by any executive than they were by Senator Hill when the gov-ernor of New York. The Democratic party has gained wisdom by experience. It is for-getting the past unpleasantness. Its policy of good government embraces all people, white and black, rich and poor, north and south. Extirpating Tattoo Marks. The method proposed by M. Variot, a French authority, for extirpating tattoo marks has been widely described and approved, the initial proceeding being imply to wash the part with a concenrated solution of tannic acid, then closely puncturing it with a set of needles, such as tattooers use; following this, a crayon of nitrate of silver is thoroughly rubbed over the area, and secure a good location for a boathouse. Select a spot if possible where the shore is which stage it is found that the puncgravelly and sandy, or very rocky, rather tures have become deeply blackened by than the muck holes which are usually the formation of the tannate of silver in poathouse the next thing is to construct The cauterization is said to result in superficial red cicatrix, which gradually loses its color, and at the end of a few each side of the vertical timbers with the months is scarely perceptible. Only a top of the posts sized down to 6 inches. On small area is to be treated at one time, top of these nail a 3x10 plank all around and powdered tannin is the simple dressing to be employed .- New York Tribune.

> An Accomplished Cobbler. "I believe the finest shoemaker in the world is the one employed by the government at the West Point Military academy," said an army officer. "He has been there time out of mind, is old and bent and gray, but the shoes he still makes for the cadets haven't their equal in shape and durability. The cadet, you know, is supplied with four pairs of shoes—a dancing shoe made of morocco a furlough shoe made of the finest calf skin, a uniform shoe made of calfskin. but with a thick sole, and a winter shoe made of cowhide. When I left West Point I carried my cowhide shoes with marched every foot of the way from Fort Lazvenworth to Fort Bayard, a distance of 1,300 miles, in the cowhide shoos. That long tramp didn't phase them, and I have them yet, good as new."-St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Old Hands Invited to Work - A Loss of $125,000 in Wages.

PROVIDENCE, June 22.-Seven quarrymen have arrived at Westerly from Boston to work at the quarry of the Smith Granite company. Their presence has excited the stoneworkers considerably. It is stated that in accordance with the resolution of the Manufacturers' association that all of the quarries will be thrown open, and the men invited to return.

Preference will be given to the old hands. None of the old hands, however, have applied for work however, many of them having secured employment in other places while awaiting a settlement. It is estimated that the loss in wages since the beginning of the trouble has been $125,-000 in Westerly and vicinity.

A DANGEROUS PASTIME.

Drunken Men Steal a Locomotive and

Narrowly Escape Disaster. HARTFORD, June 22.-A locomotive was stolen about midnight by three men at New Britain, on the New York and New England tracks. The men ran the engine to Parkville, within two miles of this city, and abandoned it. A freight train going east was flagged in time to prevent a collision. Albert Mutcher, 24 years old, of New Britain, was arrested for the deed and held in $300 bonds. He denied the crime, but gave the names of two other men who were with him during the night. They have left town, but the police are after them. The theft is believed to have been a drunken freak.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

CHICAGO, June 23 .- The second day's work of the Democratic national convention was begun at 11:30, Temporary Chairman Owens calling the delegates to order. There was a much larger attendance of visitors than on Tuesday, an interesting morning session being expected.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Alfred H.

Henley of the Methodist Episcopal church. After prayer the Iowa delegation marched in bearing a large Boies banner. Chair-man Owens called for the report of the committee on credentials, and while waiting for the chairman of that committee James R. Doolittle and Lyman Trumbull

James R. Doolitte and Lyman Frankling were invited to take seats on the platform.
Roger Q. Mills entered the hall and took a seat on the platform. As he sat down
Congressman Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland moved that Senator Mills be requested to address the convention, and the notion was carried. Just as he was about to address the delegates, the senator was taken sick, and was carried in a carriage

On motion of Mr. De Young of Michigan Senator Palmer was invited to address the convention. Great cheering greeted

John R. Fellows was next asked to speak. The New Yorker said that as he was a delegate he preferred to speak at the proper time, not now. It was any nounced that the committee on credentials were ready to report. Chairman John E were ready to report. Chairman John E. Lamb read his report and the convention

The question of reform in the wedding journey is now being agitated by leaders of English society. They maintain that much time and money are thrown that not only is there no adequate comly the honeymoon is thereby robbed of its blissful serenity.

A dozen letters have appeared this week in a London daily suggesting that the honeymoon should be curtailed and simplified. One humorous writer, who dates his letter from Grosvenor square, the most fashionable part of London, declares emphatically that the newly married husband tires of the honeymoon. ATLANTIC-Cunningham's News Agency | He may get very tired of it, or only just a little, but he tires of it. He may idolize, adore, love or merely like his young wife, but by whichever gradation of sentiment he is attached to her he still annoys him.

The period of betrothal is an irritating and annoying one for the man. The vedding preparations, so highly appreiated by the bride, are a source of coninual worry for the bridegroom. From the gifts, from the social to the civil ceremonies, everything represents minute and assiduous labor; so much so, that unless he is aided by immense love, great bridegroom, when the wedding day arrives, is in a state of acute irritability (no man can possibly be tranquil on this day unless he is an imbecile), and the departure for the honeymoon, always According to another correspondent it is next to impossible for things to go smoothly and pleasantly during the honeymoon. Adlai Ewing Stevenson is a resident of for vice president was born in Christian for vice president was born in Christian county, Ky., Oct. 23, 1855. His parents removed from North Carolina to Kentucky, one of his ancestors being a signer of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. At 20 years of age Mr. Stevenson graduated from Centre college, Kentucky, and married Miss Lettie Green, daughter of the president of that institution. Among his classmates were Senator Blackburn. Senator Davidson of Florida. Governor ourn, Senator Davidson of Florida, Governor McCreary and other distinguished men. Soon after graduating, Mr. Stevenson removed to Illinois, where he studied law with the late twice elected to the house of representatives, twice elected to the house of representatives, as a Democrat, from a district largely Republican. He was appointed first assistant postmaster general by Mr. Cleveland, July 6, 1885. One of the last official acts of Mr. Cleveland was to nominate Mr. Stevenson for justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, the suprementation of the suprementation of the nomination of the nomination of the suprementation of the nomination the supreme court of the District of Columbia, but the Republican senate failed to act upon his nomination. The greatest orator of its organization was marched forth at the last moment, and, as he hurled the greatest political philippic of the age into the very teeth of his opponents, the thousands of Cleveland enthusiasts were conquered into admiration for his courage, and no orator of the national convention of 1892 received more respectful consideration than was accorded Congressman Bourke Cockran of New York. At the conclusion the vast hall reverberated with the en-thusiastic tribute; but the die of destiny had been cast, and the warning of the elequent New Yorker was powerless to check the great tidal wave which twenty minutes later hurled the nomination of a great national convention at the feet of

Grover Cleveland. Jaded, sweaty and languid, with a tiredout look upon their faces, the delegates wandered into the convention hall for

The Last Session, a few appearing before 2 o'clock, but the great majority failing to put in an appearance until long after the hour set for the opening of the proceedings. At 2:27 the vet banner on which was inscribed the name of Indiana's governor, marched into the hall, preceded by a band playing "Auld Lang Syne," and were received with a great yell. Behind them came the Hendricks club of Indianapolis, the memwhite plumes and chanting a nondescript air, which fitted the words "Gray, Gray, Isaac P. Gray."

The measure of public interest in the convention proceedings had sunk from the mark of $15 a ticket on the curbs Wednesday to $1.50. The fact of lessened interest was also told by the many empty chairs in both galleries.

A tendency to give a crumb of comfort to Tammany was noticeable among many delegates. There were rumors of comurging New York's seventy-two delegates to give their solid vote to General A. E. Stevenson of Illinois. General Collins in the meantime was among the Massachusetts delegates canvassing them for Gray. At 2:55 p. m. Chairman Wilson called the convention to order, and prayer was Iowa. The chairman then stated that the part order of business was the most order of the most order orde next order of business was the nomina-tion of a candidate for the office of vice president of the United States. The chair irected the clerk to call the roll of the states for nominations for that office. On motion of Governor Porter of Tennessee nominating speeches were limited to five That of the Nations Centennial in 1876 minutes each, and seconding speeches to two minutes each, and the roll was proceeded with.

When the clerk called Arkansas, Mr. Fordyce stated that Arkansas desired to placed in nomination Isaac P. Gray of Indiana.

As Mr. Lamb concluded the rain began wigwam. California gave way to Illinois, and Mr. Worthington took the platform to nominate Mr. Stevenson. He said:

Stevenson's Nomination.

· Illinois has presented no presidential candidate to this convention. It has within its borders more than one favorite son, whom it would have delighted to honor, and who are worthy of all the political honors that could be conferred upon them. But here in this be conferred upon them. But here in this great city of Chicago, in this great commonwealth of Ilincis, bordering upon the lake and the Mississippi, in the center of this great republic, the Democracy, catching the vibrations of the ground swell that came from the south and the east and the west, put aside its favorite sons, for the time buried its state pride, and echoing back to Texas, Connecticut and California with forty-eight votes, shouted the name of Grover Cleveland. But for the vice presidency, for the second highest place in the gift of the people, it has a candidate so fully equipped by nature and education that it feels that it would be a political factorization. Like his great leader who bears your ban-ner, he believes that "public office is a public trust," but he believes also that the Democrats are the best trustees of this public trust. We propose to make true what our Republican friends say of us—that we do our quarreling before the convention and our fighting against our enemies afterward. We believe that every Democrat will put on his armor. We of the west here have been making a magnificent campaign of late years. We have been educating the people, and the proud results are seen in Boyd of Nebraska, Boies of Iowa, Peck of Wisconsin in, the grand old man, who represents. We propose in this campaign to attack the last citadel. We have a governor that we are going to elect. Will you help us give the twenty-four electoral votes to Grover Cleveland? If you will, then vote for the man whose name I now present, a man who does not have to get a certificate from a labor organization to show that he is a friend of the people, a man that we all love—Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois. tevenson of Illinois. R. J. Vance of Connecticut rose in his place to second the nomination of Isaac P. Gray. He spoke briefly and what he said could hardly be distinguished, because of the noise caused by the rainfall.

Boies Didn't Want It. Idaho also seconded the nomination of Gray.

When Iowa was called, the chairman the delegation said: "Iowa has no candidate to present." There were cries for Boies all over the hall, and the chairman again taking the floor said: "It is the personal wish of governor Boies, it is the Hon. The rollcall proceeded without any interruption until Michigan was reached, when Don M. Dickinson announced that Michigan would present a candidate through Hon. E. F. Uhl. Mr. Uhl took the platform and nominated Allan B.

It remained to Tammany Hall to name the candidate for the vice presidency. When the day opened all was in doubt as to the selection of a candidate for vice president. Every delegate identified with the opposition to Grover Cleveland was found to be arrayed in an even more vehement opposition to the candidacy of Gray. It became manifest that whatever agreement might have been entered into by the Cleveland leaders to give Gray the vice presidency in return for the support of Indiana for Cleveland, there was going to be determined opposition by the delegates generally to the consummation of this

At the conference of the New York delegation held early in the day Hon. William M. What took place at this conference no one knows, but when Mr. Springer emerged he informed his Illinois friends that the seventy-two votes of New York would be Hendricks club of Indianapolis, the members of both clubs flourishing long at large the intentions of the New York delegation were a secret until that state was reached on the rollcall. Up to that time Stevenson and Gray were leading without about equal strength. There was almost breathless silence when the name of New York was called.

"New York has seventy-two votes for Hou. Adlai E. Stevenson," said Gov-ernor Flower, and thousands of Illinois men in the galleries went wild with enthusiasm. The remainder of the rollcall was but formal. Stevenson at once began to binations and purposes as to the filling of the second place. It transpired that Bourke Cockran of New York had been changed their vote to the Illinoisan. Mr. Elias stood on his chair when North Carolina was called, and seconded the

As a large number of strangers will visit the city the Committee urgs that every one decorate their houses and grounds, thus giving the city a gala appearance. Arrangements have been made to decorate the Public Buildings owned by the city, and local pride should stimulate a feeling that QU:NCY is not to be outdone by any other place. The following programme has been arranged:

At Sunrise and Sunset a Salute of 100 Guns will be Fired.

At 7.30 A. M.,

PROCESSION

of Tableaux, Humorous Features, Trades, Civic Organizations, etc., will form in the Square and march over the principal streets of the city. It is expected from present indications that the procession will be the largest and best ever seen on our streets.

At 10.30 A. M.,

Literary Exercises

Will be held in the Stone Temple, which will include Welcome Address by MAYOR HENRY O. FAIRBANKS and Oration by CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

BASE BALL GAME and ATHLETIC SPORTS

In the Park and REGATTA at Houghs Neck, with Band Concerts at both places. All entries for Regattta must be made in writing, giving name of boat, owner, and water line length to Mr. H. M. Faxon, on or before Friday Evening, July 1, at 6
P. M; confined to boats belonging to Quincy Clubs. The sports are to be limited to residents of Quincy only and all entries to be made with Mr. Henry McGrath, 67 Water street, before Friday, July 1, at 6 P. M.

HEADQUARTERS have been established by the Commi tee over the Quincy Savings Bank, Hancock street, where the Chief Marshal, Mr. George A. Litchfield, can be seen any evening until Saturday, July 2, and give whatever information is desired. Parties are cautioned against building features too high as the trolly wire of the Street Railway is only 18 feet above the ground. The Committee wish it distinctly understood that no objectionable features will be allowed in the procession. The route over which the procession will pass and the names of the Judges on best features will be announced later in the local papers. All are cordially invited to participate in the parade without personal solicitation.

If all residents living along the route of the procession will sprinkle the street early in the morning, it will not only prove a source of pleasure to those marching but will keep down the clouds of dust that is so obnoxious to the sightseers.

PROFOUNDLY TOUCHED.

BUZZARD'S BAY, June 24.-The following statement was made to reporters by Grover Cleveland on receipt of the news from Chicago: "I should certainly be chargeable with dense insensibility if I were not profoundly touched by this new proof of the confidence and trust of the great party to which I belong and whose mandates claim my loyal obedience. I am confident that our fellow countrymen are ready to receive with appropriate the begun his speech when the rain came down in torrents, the voice of the speaker principles of true Democracy, and I can't down in torrents, the voice of the speaker was drowned, and he was obliged to await the storm's subsidence. The band struck up the baby song from "Wang," and the Pennsylvania delegates sang these words:

Grover, Grover, four more years of Grover, In he goes, out they go;

are ready to receive with approval the principles of true Democracy, and I can't rid myself of the belief that to win success it is only necessary to persistently and honestly advocate those principles. Differences of opinion and judgment in Democratic conventions are by no means upwhelesome indications, but it is health. unwholesome indications, but it is hardly conceivable, in view of the importance of our success to the country and the party, that there should be anywhere among Democrats any lack of harmonious and active effort to win in the campaign which opens before us. I have, therefore, no concern on that subject. It will certainly be my constant endeavor to deserve the support of every Democrat."

Clarkson's Opinion. NEW YORK, June 24.—Hon. J. E. Clarkson, chairman of the Republican national committee, arrived at the Plazza Hotel last evening. He goes to Washington tonight to attend the meeting of the na tional committee, which occurs on Mon-day. Mr. Clarkson gave his opinion of the Democratic nominations: Said he "Both the Republican and Democratic conventions have nominated good, clean tickets, and both, I believe, fairly represent the strength of their respective parfree from scandal or personal antagonism. The lines are, however, very sharply drawn. The fight will be one of issues. It will be the issue of protection and honet money against free trade and dishon-est money. On these issues I am confi-dent the Republicans will win."

There is nothing particularly strange in this, except the fact that she was here led to an extremey unusual and amusing incident. Stopthe same evening. That evening, as he left the dining room of the hotel, the gentleman who figures in this story met the young lady above referred to, and after an exchange of courtesies asked her if she was to attend the wedding recepcave, she was struck by a whirlwind, tion. She replied that such was her intention. He then asked if he should call for her and received an affirmative an-

Promptly at 9 o'clock a carriage rolled up to the hotel entrance, a young man alighted, was whisked up to the first floor parlors in the elevator and in a few minutes came down with the young lady, attired in a bewitching costume, upon his arm. The carriage then sped away to the northward and in a very short time halted before a large residence in a fashionable part of the city, from the windows of which many lights streamed.

The young lady and her escort were at once shown to up stairs rooms, where they could divest themselves of their outer wraps before descending to the parlors. While the gentleman was COLUMBUS. No "Reversing" in Fashionable Dancing.

I am about to give society here and the leaders of the german at watering places this summer a bit of fashionable intelligence which I know will be startling in the extreme. The fiat has gone out in the best London and Continental society that the "reverse" in the valse shall no longer be permitted. This rethe fulfillment of that great promise in form seems to have been originated by Math. x, 19, 20, and remember also such the Prince of Wales, and of course it was immediately taken up by the smaller fashionables in London. THE CONFERENCE

It Was a Very Harmonious Meeting.

Single copies 2 cents, delivered daily by Both Sides Present Their Case to Mayor Fairbanks.

The Quarrymen to Meet and Draw Up a Proposition to Manufacturers.

The executive committee of the Granite Manufacturers Association and the executive committee from the granite workmen. which included representatives from the quarrymen, blacksmiths and stone cutters, held a conference at City Hall, Friday

The meeting which lasted over two hours was a very harmonious one, and anyone who saw the gathering would never have Croly suspected that they were engaged in a labor

> Both sides of the situation was presented and discussed in a friendly manner. The manufacturers defined their position, and why they insisted upon the January 1 clause, and that it was better for them and for the men that the bill should terminate on that date. They did not wish to take any advantage of the men, and were willing to sign a bill for one three or five years which would give the men the advantage of changes in the labor market. The local association had no power to settle the matter, but any proposition made would be presented to the Executive Committee of the New England Association.

On the other hand, the men presented their side of the situation. They argued that May 1 would be much better for them, as at that time there was a demand for labor, and that they could make better Choate terms than in January, when work was quiet and there was a surplus of help.

No new arguments were advanced by either side, but it is understood that the quarrymen will hold a meeting this evening, when a proposition will be drawn up to be presented to the manufacturers, who will present it to the New England Manufacturers' Association, who are to hold a meeting next Tuesday.

One of the unfortunates brought before the District court recently was a man who hail from Boston and compose a little Gerhad "looked upon the wine when it was red" to such an extent as to get what is

As the officer was taking him down the stairs out of the court room, he was heard repeating to himself these pathetic lines:

Since the days of Eve and Adam, When the fight of life began, It ain't been safe my hearers, For ter lightly judge a man; He may be trying faithful, For to make his life ago,

An' yet his legs get tangled, In th' treacherous undertow. Sad, wasn't it?

Speaking of officers reminds me of the estimony I heard a Braintree officer give at the District Court on a disturbing-thepeace case. The officer had been asked by the counsel if the parties had been drinking. "Yes," he replied, "they were mesmerized with it." He had found everything upside down; the stove was hopping around on one leg; one man was pointing to an empty rum bottle in the corner, singing "Come where my love lies dreaming, and another was reciting that soul-stirring ode "Give the poor man his pants." Shall I add that the parties were fined.

The full beach of the Supreme Judiclia Court on Wednesday, sent down a decision overruling the defendant's exceptions in the case of Annie F. Pye vs. J. Franklin Faxon of Quincy. The plaintiff was tenant at will of an estate in Boston adjoining an estate of the defendant, and sued to recover damages for injuries to her property caused by mortar, bricks and other debris being dropped on her premises from those of defendant, the latter undergoing at the time extensive repairs. The defendant contended that he was not liable because the work of rebuilding was in charge of an independent contractor. The Court said that as the dropping of the debrie was one of the necessary results of the repairs, the defendant is liable.

DISASTROUS FREIGHT WRECK.

Lumber and General Freight Piled Up in a Heap Twelve Feet High. CONCORD, N. H., June 25 .- One of the jorst freight wrecks known in this vi nity occurred about an eighth of a mile above Sewall's Falls crossing, some five miles from this city, on the Concord and

Montreal railroad, last evening. A through freight south, composed of forty-four loaded cars, was traveling at a good rate of speed, when suddenly the forward car was seen by the engineer to go down upon the track instantly. The cars following piled upon it, and eighteen of them, loaded with lumber and miscellaneous freight, were ground and broken into an almost inextricable mass of wreckage, which filled the roadway from fence to fence, tearing down telegraph poles and lines, and cutting off communieation north and south. The locomotive and the rear cars, in which were the trainmen, escaped derailment or iniury, and no one was hurt. The passenger train south, following some fifteen minutes behind, was stopped, and the passengers, who were carried by reached here two hours late. The road is completely blocked by the debris, which in one place reached to a heighth of twelve or fifteen feet. The cause of the accident is unknown but it was due either to the breaking of a journal on the forward car or to a breaking apart and coming together again of the

SUNDAY AT HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Mass., June 27 .- The Italian colony on River street was the scene of an exciting and probably fatal row yes terday, in which two men were stabbed and two others received broken heads.

The affair was the result of an old feud between the Ramano and Lanza families, and started Saturday night. Yesterday the parties were at it again, Francisco Lanza striking Rafael Ramano over the head with a wash boller. Ramano's son, Princippe, came to the rescue and Lanza drew a stilletto and buried it in young Ramano's back. A general row ensued, in which Lanza's father, Joseph became interested, and everybody took a hand. A posse of police was called and arrested the four principals.

Princippe Ramano had a deep cut in his back, which will probably prove fatal. He was taken to the city hospital. Rafael Ramano has a long stab in his left groin and both of the Lanzas have bad scalp

NEW YORK, June 27. - Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., under bail pending trial on a charge of libelling Excise Commissioner Koch from his pulpit, made a statement yesterday, as a prelude to his sermon, of some facts in the official record of Mr. Koch, upon which the so-called libellous sentences were based. Mr. Dixon referred to sworn testimony and the decisions of supreme court judges bearing against Koch, and said:

"Koch was simply the catspaw of Mayor Grant, and Tammany was trying to "Koch found in Grady a judge whose Procuring a warrant for the arrest of the first of these parties, Pollard proceeded to the scene of the fray, only to

BY MY HEEL.

"Mr. Ransom, please tell us how it is that you are filling such a responsible position, and you not yet thirty years

This question was asked by one of a crowd of four or five gentlemen seated in the handsome private office of Mr. Ransom, superintendent of transportation of the Chicago and Western railroad at Omaha, Neb.

"Well," replied the superintendent, a good looking young man of twenty-six or thereabouts, "if you will have the patience to listen I will narrate briefly how my heel caused my promotion and was the means of saving many lives."

"Five years ago I was station agent and operator at Hamlin on this road, The depot was the only building at Hamlin, consequently I had to do my own cooking and sleeping in the depot, getting my supplies from Rands, a place of about 500 inhabitants, eight miles up the railroad.

"It was about 10 o'clock on a hot, sultry night in August. There did not seem to be a breath of air stirring. The windows were up and the doors were thrown open so as to admit all the air possible. No. 32, the fast mail, had to be reported before I could get 'good night' from the dispatchers and retire. "I had pulled off my shoes and had nothing on my feet but my stockings. As I was idly leaning back in my chair, my feet propped up on the instrument table and lazily drumming on the key with my heel, I heard a slight noise behind me. Before I could turn around to ascertain the cause a man's harsh voice rang out:

"'Move an inch and you are a dead man,' and at the same moment I felt the cold muzzle of a revolver pressed against my head. "'Put your hands behind your back and look straight before you,' commanded the same voice sternly. "I obeyed alacrity. "My hands were seized roughly and bound securely to the back of the chair. "'Now, my beauty, I guess you won't do much more telegraphing tonight,' and he broke out into a discordant laugh

"He evidently thought it amusing. I "'Come on, boys,' he yelled. 'I've got this kid fast.' "After a moment three or four men, as well as I could judge with my back to the door, walked in. " 'Ha! ha! cap'n, you've got him, have you? and they all laughed roughly. "'Jim,' said the man addressed as captain, 'have you got the spike lifter?' "'You bet I has,' from one of the men.

"The captain then turned and ad-"'Young man, no harm is intended you if you keep perfectly quiet. Doubtless your curiosity is very much aroused as to our intentions. Well, it can do no harm to enlighten you, as the mischief will be done before you can give any alarm. We intend'-and here the man's voice became absolutely fiendish-'to take up two rails on that trestle out there. Let us see, the fast mail is due

I warn the crew of No. 32 of the impending danger? "The station ten miles above Rands reported No. 32 on time. Soon it would be at Rands. Never did time pass so quickly. It was now 10:37 o'clock and No. 32 must be coming into Rands. Suddenly an inspiration flashed through me like an electric shock. Why could I not warn No. 32 with my heel? In my leisure moments I had amused myself by learning to send with my foot, never dreaming that it would ever be an advantage to me. "I quietly pushed open the key with my heel and called 'R' three or four times as fast as possible, when I was interrupted by the desperado. 'What air you wiggling your foot about on that table for?" "'My foot has become cramped, remaining in one position so long,' I replied, as carelessly as I could, although my heart was in my throat.

"'Tm so sorry,' he said sarcastically. I commenced calling 'R' again. It was now 10:40 o'clock and No. 32 must have

"'D-n you, what were you ticking on them wires? cried the outlaw. "'How can I send anything with my foot? I tremblingly exclaimed. 'That's just a habit of mine-drumming on the key with my heel.' "''. Habit or no habit, you won't put your feet on this table again tonight.

"He evidently believed that I could not send with my heel, but it was not his intention to take any chances. "I wondered what the operator at

Rands would do-put on his ground wire and report what I had said to the dispatcher, or just think I was trying to scare him and lock up his office to go home. I thought the latter more probable.

"Anyway it was now too late to stop the ill fated fast mail; it would soon plunge off the trestle, carrying its cargo of human beings to a certain death. "I lay there waiting for the dreadful

"'A close shave, but only a scalp wound, men,' he was saying. 'I dare say he will be all right in a few days. Ah! he is conscious now,'-he said tenderly as I slowly opened my eyes. 'Tell us all about it, young man.' "It was rather a laborious task, as the wound on my head was exceedingly

The improved taste displayed in house building during the past few years has served to educate people to appreciate bet-ter work. No matter how small the strucire may be, the owner will strive to embellish the design as much as his pocketbook will allow, and will even sacrifice space for the sake of appearance. The craze for eccentricities in design has given place to a sensible appreciation of simplicity. FEARS OF A DOUBLE WRECK.

If Confirmed, Perhaps More Than Thousand Persons Have Perished.

NEW YORK, June 27.-Mariners hereabouts incline to the cpinion that a terrible disaster has recently occurred at sea, somewhere near this port, in which more than a thousand souls have perished. The facts that lead to this opinion are as follows: Saturday the steamer Ocean arrived and reported that on last Thursday

DRIVEN OUT BY A FLOOD.

Residents of Two Chicago Suburbs Find Themselves in a Bad Plight.

CHICAGO, June 27.-What is known as the Eighty-seventh street dyke, separatng the towns of Dauphin Park and Grand Crossing, gave way, having been cut, it is presumed, by rival real estate men. The oreaking of the dyke let the flood with all its force in upon the suburban village of Dauphin Park, flooding every street to the average depth of about twenty-four inches. In many places the water was much deeper, and the first floor of nearly every house is under water. There was a heavy rainfall yesterday afternoon and at the doors of several houses and beat the 8 o'clock the water was rising at the rate of an inch an hour.

EPIDEMICS THREATENED

Through the Filthy Water Which Ch!cagoans are Forced to Use.

CHICAGO, June 27.-Much apprehension is felt by the city health officers for the health of Chicagoans, owing to the thousands of gallons of sewage now pouring into the lake, and polluting Chicago's water supply. River sewage is pouring lakeward at the rate of 500,000 cubic feet a minute. The polluted area has reached the two-mile tunnel ports, and disease-laden water is being pumped through the main. The water department officials advise users of city water to boil every drop. Samples of water taken in and about the two-mite crib confirms the fears of the department. Chemical analyses have not been made, for evidences of pollution are tangible. The flood has reached a higher freshet.

TIME FOR HUSTLING.

This Week in Congress is Likely to Be a Very Busy One.

WASHINGTON, June 27.-The proceedings in both branches of congress this week will doubtless be affected by the fact that the fiscal year expires next Thursday. Not a single annual appropriation bill has as yet become a law, and some appropriations at least must be extended by means of joint resolutions for certain fixed periods, in order to prevent a stoppage of the machinery of the government. This device is always resorted to with great reuctance by congressional managers, and so it is probable that every effort will be made to hasten the action of conference committees and secure the enactment of everal of the bills before the end of the fiscal year.

His son teles is progressing favorably. His son tele-graphs that the inflammation of the eye has abated considerably, and is likely to be followed by no serious results. Mr. Gladstone otherwise is in excellent health, though he is confined to the house.

Most of the Sunday newspapers received greatly exaggerated accounts of the assault made upon Mr. Gladstone. As a consequence, a wave of indignation has been sweeping over the country. In hundreds of the dissenting churches vesterday the subject was referred to with great feeling, and scores of telegrams were sent expressing the sympathy of the congregations with the aged statesman. To all inquiries as to Mr. Gladstone's condition, reassuring replies were made.

1892. CELEBRATION.

The Centennial Celebration of the City of Quincy will be observed on

JULY FOURTH.

That it may be fittingly commemorated it is necesthe High school this year, as the course of sary that all our citizens take an active part and the school is being changed from three to assist the COMMITTEE in successfully carrying out

As a large number of strangers will visit the city the Committee urge that every one decorate their houses and grounds, thus giving the city a gala appearance. Arrangements have been made to decorate the Public Buildings owned by the city, and local pride should stimulate a feeling that QUINCY is not to be outdone by any other place. The following programme has been arranged:

At Sunrise and Sunset a Salute of 100 Guns will be Fired. At 7.30 A. M.,

PROCESSION

of Tableaux, Humorous Features, Trades, Civic Organizations, etc., will form in the Square and march over the principal streets of the city. It is expected from present indications that the procession will be the largest and best ever seen on our streets.

At 10.30 A. M.,

Literary Exercises

Will be held in the Stone Temple, which will include Welcome Address by MAYOR HENRY O. FAIRBANKS and Oration by CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

At 3 P. M.

BASE BALL GAME and ATHLETIC SPORTS

In the Park and REGATTA at Houghs Neck, with Band Concerts at both places. All entries for Regattta must be made in writing, giving name of boat, owner, and water line length to Mr. H. M. Faxon, on or before Friday Evening. July 1, at 6 P. M; confined to boats belonging to Quincy Clubs. The sports are to be limited to residents of Quincy only and all entries to be made with Mr. Henry McGrath, 67 Water street, before Friday, July 1, at 6 P. M.

At 8.20 P. M.,

Students of natural history are much interested in the recent discovery in New Zealand of an extensive deposit of the remains of the gigantic extinct birds called moas. The discovery was made in plowing through a slight depression in a field where a bog containing several springs

It was evident that these great birds, which were much larger than the moddecision will mean a bitter, protracted struggle, culminating probably in civil to fourteen feet, had perished there by war, or even down loyalists to the most dread subjection to their ancient and unested to account for the destruction of such an army of powerful birds. One theory is that they were overwhelmed by a great storm, and that their remains were heaped together by the combined ction of wind and water.

What renders the question still more ouzzling is the fact that collections of moa skeletons, mingled with those of other giant birds, have been found in imilar situations elsewhere in New Zea

Students of geology are aware that evidence is sometimes found in the rocks of the sudden destruction of great numbers of animals that formerly existed on the earth, and the resemblance of such cases to this of the New Zealand moas is interesting.—Youth's Companion.

Oiling a Highwayman. There used to be-and may be yeto go to Fore William. He was a substituted above named place in company with the above named place in company with Mary Concklin, aged 16, the daughter of Fe railway an engineer known as "Big a widow living in Port William. Miss Jack Long." One night Jack was alone Concklin's mother strenuously objected to her association with Palmer. Yesterwhile the rest of his crew, like the pascovered on the roadside, both dead. They had taken the robes out of the buggy and eating house. The train was along one sengers, were at supper in the dingy spread them down on the ground, and and the engine was well away from the placed the buggy cushion on them for a little cluster of buildings. Suddenly 'Throw up your hands!" was growled at him, and Jack found himself looking into a gun in the hands of a hard look-

The fellow demanded money, and Jack began to argue, protesting that he had but a dollar in his pockets, and that Elders of Pastor Nicoli's Church Find to take that were a cruelty, since it was meant to pay for his supper. Yes, the marauder was determined to have the sack, even if it had but a single dollar. During the discussion Jack slipped his hand from bulb to nozzle of the long machinist's oiler and edged around the head of the locomotive, finally backing across the track, closely followed by the temporizing holder up.

When the man was so well into the glare of the headlight as to guide Jack's address, this worthy promptly laid over his head with the heavy oiler for a bludgeon, and when the victim's yells had drawn forth the supping contingent, Jack had beaten his assailant al most senseless and stood, weapon in hand, looking down at him and saying grimly, "Well! I guess I've got you so well oiled up that you won't 'run hot' again for one while!"-San Francisco Argonaut.

American Pie Vindicated.

The American pie has triumphed. There was a time when pie was in disble and inexcusable culinary concoction. In England, where it was almost tanta mount to misprision of treason to sug gest that plum pudding is too rich to be healthful, pie-except perhaps mince pie, which is as rich and dubious a plum pudding-was tabooed. But, like the oppressed of all nations, it found shelter in America. There were New which were delicious and comforting to the inner man, and the pumpkin pie be came associated with the festival of Thanksgiving in a manner altogether honorable to those who were responsible for "making and uttering" it.

Then arose the great American philos opher, Emerson, the most essentially classic type of man who has flourished in this western world, and Emerson at pie three times a day. Dr. Johnson used to say that "the man who drinks beer thinks beer." Ralph Waldo Emerson ate pie and thought philosophy. The American pie was vindicated .-- Milwau-

MR. NORCROSS REPLIES,

Hereafter the Granite Trade Must be Open to Any Man.

Mr. O.W. Norcross replies to the letter of the Milford granite cutters, which appeared in the LEDGER of Friday, with the following letter to the Milford Journal:

such statistics as they have used in this ar- where another's rights begin. ticle, as for instance, Chicago-50 cents per hour. Now, in the whole of Chicago, which has over a million people, there are fifty granite cutters. (This is an estimate that a member of the Granite Cutters' Union gave to me a month ago.) Of those fifty granite cutters, it is safe to say that every one is an extra good man and probably a carver; and as a matter of fact, twenty-two of them were at work carving the stone which was partially cut in Mil-at every place they mention, except Concord. What sense is there in comparing fifty granite carvers in a city of over a million inhabitants with the number of men who work in Milford? Any man who runs a small yard in a city must have superior men, and Norcross Brothers have men whom they pay more than the regulation

Norcross Brothers have not complained particularly of the increased wages they pay over and above others, but they do complain that with these relatively high wages, with a liberal and conciliating policy towards the Granite Cutters' Union under the belief that they could live in peace with them, the result has been that 250 men struck at Stony Creek, and in violation of an Agreement to Keep to Work. Now, the action of the granite cutters at Stony Creek has caused Norcross Brothers to break a contract with the Reading rail road, causing Norcross Brothers a great loss. It has also diverted at least one hundred thousand dollars' worth of granite work into lime-stone and brick. The rules of the Granite Cutters' Union would compel every granite cutter in Milford to conribute something every day to pay the striking granite cutters at Stony Creek; in other words, Norcross Brothers at Milford would be paying out money for the sake Destroying Their Business at Stony Creek. The writer of the article in your paper knows that.

Now, all that stuff about system of accounts; old age in competition with youth; another man taking the bread out of the granite cutters' mouth because he does not belong to the Union; if a man learns the granite cutters' trade, doing somebody an injury; every dollar being moistened by the sweat of the laboring man's brow - these are stock phrases and sayings and beliefs which are taught by the man who runs the Granite Cutters' Union. They are simply Rank Rot and Nonsense.

It is difficult to write of the questions of wages without being misunderstood; but the artisans and workmen of Milford and everywhere else can best judge whether the granite cutter who works nine hours a day and gets $3.06, is moistening his brow any more than Norcross Brothers are. The fact is, the Granite Cutters' Union, as a body, have proceeded with exaction after exaction, rule after rule, until they have made it impossible for a granite contractor to agree to cut his granite in any particular time or any particular sum. The inhabitants of Milford

Who Have Seen the Progress Of the granite industry the last few years, can judge whether, on the part of the granite manufacturers, it has been conducted fairly or not; and every mangranite cutter, business man, or othercan see that the following conditions must be complied with in order to conduct the granite business successfully. Cut granite can be furnished at a relatively reasonable price; it must be furnished in a reasonable time; the time in which it can be furnished must be stated and agreed to; and, unless the present state of affairs as regards the granite business can be changed and the business relieved of the control of the Granite Cutters' Union, none of these conditions can be complied with; and unless these conditions can be complied with, granite cutting for buildings

Must Go to the Wall. Hereafter the granite yards must be open for work at fair wages to any man, whether THE Committee on the Centennial celebration has decided on the following list of Sports: Odd Fellows or the Masons, the Granite Cutters' Union or any other union.

It is a hard matter to establish a perman-3.00 ent industry in any place. Thirty years ago 3.00 a prominent granite man, who afterward 2.00 went to Quincy, endeavored to establish a 2.00 granite business in Milford. He did not 2.00 succeed. It has taken years to establish

FROM A SILVER STANDPOINT.

Senator Teller is Inclined to Lean a Little Toward President Harrison. NEW HAVEN, June 28.-United States Senator Teller of Colorado is in the city attending the commencement exercises at Yale. He talked quite freely with a reproter on the political situation and the general financial outlook. The two great NEW YORK, June 28.-Rev. Thomas parties, he thought, are so nearly alike on the silver question, that it is difficult to choose between them, and he added: "In ooth cases the candidates are worse than the platform."

He said further that Blaine would have een more acceptable to the silver men than Harrison, and the Democrats of the silver states would have preferred anyone o Cleveland. The attitude of the two old parties on this question would greatly strengthen the Alliance. If the anti-silver men succeed in their projects, the country, Mr. Teller declares, will be overwhelmed by greater financial disasters than any it has yet known. The silver men believe that the rehabilitation of silver would give an era of prosperity. Referring again o the political situation, Senator Teller elected again." IN GOOD WORKING ORDER. The National Committee Will Keep Its

Eyes on the Third Party. WASHINGTON, June 28 .- In parting with the president yesterday Mr. Clarkson informed him that the national organization was never in better condition to enter into a campaign than at present. All the machinery has been in active operation for several months, and in communication with the central organizations in many of the important states. He informed the president that from present indications the outlook was favorable.

The only apprehension that he entertained was the third party movement, with Gresham as the standard bearer. He Judge Gresham is not a candidate for feared that might draw off a number of votes in all the western states, extending to the Pacific coast. The president, in his conversation, did not seem to realize the danger of this Gresham movement. He did not believe that Judge Gresham would allow the use of his name and thereby endanger the party success.

The news that Gresham would not allow the use of his name was received with much satisfaction. It is known, however, that Gresham is not very frien 'ly to the president, at hough the latter as very little to say on the subject. Is is proposed, whoever is a lected, to appoint an executive committee who are to have immachate charge of the campaign and devote all their time to its duty. This is considered a very important move.

1892. CELEBRATION.

The Centennial Celebration of the City of Quincy will be observed on

JULY FOURTH.

That it may be fittingly commemorated it is necessary that all our citizens take an active part and assist the COMMITTEE in successfully carrying out the programme of the day.

As a large number of strangers will visit the city the Committee urge that every one decorate their houses and grounds, thus giving the city a gala appearance. Arrangements have been made to decorate the Public Buildings owned by the city, and local pride should stimulate a feeling that QUINCY is not to be outdone by any other place. The following programme has been arranged:

At Sunrise and Sunset a Salute of 100 Guns will be Fired. At 7.30 A. M.,

PROCESSION

of Tableaux, Humorous Features, Trades, Civic Organizations, etc., will form in the Square and march over the principal streets of the city. It is expected from present indications that the procession will be the largest and best ever seen on our streets.

At 10.30 A. M.,

Literary Exercises

Will be held in the Stone Temple, which will include Welcome Address by MAYOR HENRY O. FAIRBANKS and Oration by CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS.

BASE BALL GAME and ATHLETIC SPORTS

In the Park and REGATTA at Houghs Neck, with Band Concerts at both places. All entries for Regattta must be made in writing, giving name of boat, owner, and water line length to Mr. H. M. Faxon, on or before Friday Evening. July 1, at 6 P. M.; confined to boats belonging to Quincy Clubs. The story has it that at a special meet-ing of the officials of the Carnegie interests it was decided that every union man in the employ of the firm at the Home-stead works, from the highest down to the lowest laborer, will be paid off in full on July 1 and discharged at once. The pres-ent scale expires on the 30th inst., and it is asserted the firm has determined to run the mill non-union thereafter.

Tennessee People's Party. NASHVILLE, June 29.—The People's party selected presidential electors and also forty-eight delegates to the national convention at Omaha. The platform de-nounces both parties as enemies of the people, demands free silver coinage and charges the Democratic majority in con-gress with violation of their pledges to the people. The convention decided not to make a nomination for governor at present and adjourned until Aug. 18.

Evidences of a Wreck. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 29.—Some Isles of Shoals fishermen discovered the rudder of a vessel on the shore of Malaga island, and soon after a large white dory was picked up near the same locality. There was no mark on the boat, but the finding of the rudder and boat lead fisher men at that place to think that some fish ing vessel has been wrecked in that

Some Damaging Evidence Given in the Holmes Wife Murder Trial. SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 29.-The second day of the Holmes murder trial furnished strong circumstantial evidence implicating the defendant in the horrible tragedy. Several witnesses testified to hearing Holmes threaten to take his wife's life at various times, and once Mrs. Holmes' mother saw the prisoner chasing his wife and threatening to kill her with the razor which he held in his hands. Charles J. Kenyon of Haverhill, a son of Mrs. Holmes by her first husband, was a witness to some cruel and abusive treat-plains. Oscellia Branlette had seen Holmes horsewhip his wife, and heard him remark that if it had been a knife he would cut off her head with it.

At the afternoon session the first witness was Lilla Salter, 12 years old, who testified to seeing Mrs. Holmes at her house after 11 o'clock Aug. 31, the night before she disappeared. She had an appointment with Mrs. Holmes for the next morning, and, going to the house, then saw through a window Holmes in the kitchen leaning over the trap door to the cellar, where the body was found buried. When the girkinquired of Holmes for his wife he told her to get out and slammed

SHE KNEW HOW TO FIGHT.

New Hampshire Woman Gets the Best of a Would-Be Ravisher. ROCHESTER, N. H., June 29. - Word came o this city from West Rochester that a yoman of 21 had been brutally assaulted and City Marshal Hussey at once investigated. James McDuffee, a respectable and well-to-do farmer, recently engaged the services of an Italian to assist him on his farm, who came well recommended. Mr. McDuffee left yesterday to get a load of boards, leaving his daughter Mary alone with the Italian. She was busily engaged picking strawberries, all unconscious of the stealthy approach of the Italian, who, seizing her by the waist, attempted

o criminally assault her.

The girl fought desperately, using her ands and a table fork with good effect, disfiguring the man's face considerably, and the timely arrival of Mr. McDuffee oiled the miscreant. The indignant lather reached for his gun, and would have made short work of the rascal had the later not fled to the woods, hatless and coatless. Great excitement prevails, and paries are busy scouring the woods to capure him.

BAY STATE POLITICS. Both Sides Fully Satisfied-A Lively

Campaign Anticipated. Boston, June 29 .- oth Republican and Democrats profess to be fully satisfied with their respective national tickets, and owever strongly utterances on either side are backed by conviction, it is apparent that a vigorous campaign is coming. It is generally conceded that Lieutenant Governor Haile will lead the Republican state ticket, with Colonel Ephraim Stearns of Waltham as nominee for second place. Adjutant General Pillsbury s also mentioned in this connection, but t is doubtful if he will allow his name to be used for any office short of the governorhip. Now that Mr. Cleveland has been nominated for the presidency, there is no turther doubt as to Governor Russell's nning for a third term, with Senator McDonald of Marlboro or ex-Mayor Caroll of Springfield as the candidate for utenant governor.

IN CONGRESS.

The House Passes a Big Grist of Bills of Interest to War Veterans. WASHINGTON, June 29.-The following bills were passed in the house: A bill granting a pension of $12 a month to army nurses who served not less than six months in the civil war. Senate bill amending the act, which amends the pension laws, so as to remove the disability of those who, having participated in the re bellion, enlisted in the army or navy of the United States and became disabled. The bill also provides that nothing in any act of congress shall hereafter prevent any person from being commissioned in the army or navy by reason of having served in the Confederate army or navy. A bill forbidding discrimination against evidence of witnesses on account of official rank in applications for pensions. A bill to expedite prosecutions for pension claims. A bill granting a pension of $50 a month to soldiers totally incapacitated for performing manual labor by reason of injuries received or disease contracted in the service of the United States and in line of duty, and who are thereby so disabled as to require frequent and periodical, though not regular and not constant personal aid and attendance of another person. Messrs. Hale and Vest debated the tariff platform of the two parties in the senate The agricultural appropriation bill was passed. The army appropriation bill con ference report was agreed to and further conference asked.

CONCERNING RECIPROCITY.

Important Points in the New Agreement with the Spanish Islands. Washington, June 29.—The transitory eciprocity arrangement which has been in operation between Cuba, Porto Rico and the United States for the past eight nonths will come to an end on July 1, and be substituted by the definite arrange ment which was negotiated last year. This latter arrangement is the most complete and comprehensive arrangement ever made by this government, embracing not only all agricultural products, but a long and important list of manufactured goods, to be admitted free or at greatly re-uced duties. It was contemplated that a repertory of all articles included in this reciprocity hould be compiled and published by July , but owing to some misunderstanding n the part of the Spanish government t will not be possible to complete it by hat date. Meanwhile the consuls of the panish islands have been instructed to ceive and present to the customs auhorities all protests of importers of American products which are believed to be improperly assessed with duties.

FOSTER OR TRACY? Both Are Mentioned as Likely to Become Secretary of State. WASHINGTON, June 29.—The question of filling the vacant secretaryship of state was discussed at the cabinet meeting yeserday. It is probable that General J. W. oster, now the agent of the government conducting the Behring sea negotiaons, will be named to fill the vacancy. NEW YORK, June 29.—The Tribune ro orts Henry De Young of California as aying: "General Tracy is going to take the vacant place in the state depar rent and Governor Cheney of New Hampshir is to succeed General Tracy as secretary of the navy. This is straight. Both appointments have been settled upon by the resident."

Reciprocity with Cuba. WASHINGTON, June 29.—The president has issued a proclamation, proclaiming reciprocal trade relations with Cuba, under the reciprocity clause of the recent tariff law.

British Steamer Abandoned. LONDON, June 29.-The British steamer Dacia of London ran on a rock near Cape t. Vincent, on the southwest extremity of Portugal, and was so badly damaged that the crew abandoned her without loss of life. The Dacia was an iron steamer.

The Color Line. CINCINNATI, June 29 .- C. N. Grandison, resident of Benton college, Greensboro, N. C., colored delegate-at-large to the National Prohibition convention, was re-fused entertainment at the Gibson house. He threatens to sue the management.

Afraid of Home Rule. DUBLIN, June 29.-There is almost panie in Irish securities, including rail-way and bank stock, owing to the fear to a charge of carrying more passengers way and bank stock, owing to the fear than allowed by law. He was fined $490 that home rule will gain the day in the coming election. There is a general sense of insecurity as to Ireland's future.

mains Unsolved-A Boston Lawyer Removed from the Position of Administrator of His Father's Estate-Father Michaud Consecrated as Coadjutor Bishop of Vermont-Troubles of the National Congress of Friends Smoothed Over-Sudden Death of a Man at Houlton, Mc., Who Sald He Had Been Poisoned-New England News.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., June 30.-The third day of the Holmes murder trial opened in the superior court here. The prisoner appears to be breaking down under the severe mental strain incident to his trial. He was visited by his sister and his little son. The visit affected him greatly. Chief of Police Connors of Chicopee was the first witness called. He was subjected to severe cross-examination by the counsel for the defense. His testimony related to the finding and identifying of the body and to the funeral services. His testimony was unshaken. Witness said he went to Providence to see the prisoner's sister and described the interview.

Dennis Mack, a policeman, was next called, and testified to being with Chief Conners in November when they visited the prisoner's house. While the chief was digging a part of the right leg was exposed and witness heard Holmes ex-claim, "that's her." Witness testified to prisoner's nervousness on this occasion. Dr. Tuttle, the medical examiner, testified to the condition of the body when examined by him. The doctor testified to finding sand in the windpipe, thus showing that the unfortunate woman was buried

At the opening of the afternoon session the counsel for the commonwealth an-nounced that the testimony for the prosecution was finished and Lawyer Druce proceeded to outline the case of the de-fense. He reviewed the prisoner's life, particularly emphasizing his sickness and misfortune. He stated that testimony would be introduced to show that Mrs. Holmes was seen later than Sept. 1.

The prisoner was th n called to the witness stand and answered to his name in clear tones. He then began a minute history of his life, starting with his early days spent in Burlington, Vt., and then of his subsequent entering the army, where he received injuries from which he never fully recovered. He told of his wandering life from one city to another and of his marriage relations, the important points in which were brought out in the rigid cross-examination which folquestioning by inquiring into his physical condition, which the defense claimed was so seriously impaired. The commonwealth showed that he was in possession of sufficient physical strength to make application for a position on the police force and to occasionally assault his wife, on which charge he had previously been arrested.

He denied ever having threatened his wife when sober, but admitted that he might have done so when drunk. Upon close questioning he said he recognized the dress upon the body as belonging to his wife. It was a red dress, he said, with a white trimming. And he denied that she ever had a gray dress. The prisoner then related an incident about George Mayo, whom he alleges to have suspected as the murderer. He said that Mayo once came to his house, and, taking his wife by the arm, said he was going to stop all night. He admitted that he had been on good terms with Mayo, and the latter had once told him that he wished he had such a woman. When questioned later about the last time he saw his wife, he said, in direct contradiction to his previous statement that she had no gray dress, that she had on a gray dress when he came home from work Sept. 1, and that she then changed it and said something about going to Holyoke.

He admitted that he had never made any search for his lost wife. He denied steps to bring suit for separate maintenance or that he had ever made the renearly finished the cross-examination when the court adjourned at 5 o'clock.

UNWORTHY TO BE EXECUTOR.

Lawyer Butler Removed from the Guardianship of His Father's Estate. Boston, June 30.-Lawyer John E. Butler is no longer administrator of the estate of Edward J. Butler, his father. He was yesterday removed by Justice Forbes in the Suffolk county probate court, on the the ground of misconduct, on the petition presented by his mother, Catherine Butler. The amount of the estate is about $10,000, and the charges made against the administrator by his mother are quite serious. All of them ex-cept one are found by the court to have been sustained by the evidence. The charges against Butler on which the court ousts him are that he failed to render an account as administrator, that he obtained leave to sell real estate by lalse pretenses, that he had filed a bond for $7000, with securities known by him to be worthless and falsely represented them to be good securities, that he obtained leave to sell real estate to pay debts and has not paid them, though four years have elapsed, and that he has converted the estate to his own use and withheld it from his mother. Another charge against from his mother. Another charge ag Butler was that he forged his mo name to a deed, but the court doe find this supported by the evidence. Butler was that he forged his mother's name to a deed, but the court does not

STILL A MYSTERY.

What Son-in-Law Hort Has to Say of Jonathan Glass' Death. CHESTER N 4 June 30 -The mystery surrounding the death of Jonathan Glass of Chester is still unsolved, and it is more than probable that it never will be satis-factorily cleared up. The citizens still maintain that Glass was murdered. Hoyt, the son-in-law took no part in the search for the body, reating that his wife was ill, and that it was necessary for him to stay at home and care for her. The story told by Hoyt yesterday after-noon is this: Glass arose as usual on Wednesday morning at 4:30, milked the wednesday morning at 4:30, milked the cows, built the fire in the kitchen stove, and then left the house. That night Glass returned, secured a bottle of liniment, a razor and a pockettur of doughnuts and again disappeared. The next morning the girls asked Hoyt to go up into their father's room and see if his razor was missing. This he did and the heaving missing. This he did, and the box in which it was usually kept was empty. On a further examination it was found that Glass, who kept a strict account of all money which passed through his hands, had posted up his books and left them on the top of his desk, an unusual proceeding for him.

He believed that the old man had committed suicide, but made no attempt to find the body. His wife and the unmarried daughter, however, became worried and notified the officers. Among others notified were Deputy Sheriff Towle and two members of the board of selectmen.

Hoyt claims that he had trouble before with Towle, and therefore would not aid him in searching. He admitted that Glass had refused to furnish bail for him when he was arrested, but declared he was influenced by Deputy Sheriff Towle.

"Towle," he said, "came up to the house and saw my father-in-law. He walked out in the barn with him, and there told him that he knew enough about me to send me to state prison for life. My wife and her sister were secreted in the barn and heard all that Towle said."

The two women were called out of the house at this point and corroborated Hoyt's statement.
Continuing, Hoyt declared that both Sheriff Coffin and Towle were down on him and were trying to connect him with the affair. Hoyt states that Glass had before attempted to commit suicide.

Thousands Attend the Consecration of Father Michaud at Burlington, Vt. BURLINGTON, Vt., June 30. - Yesterday was a gala day in Catholic circles, the occasion being the consecration of Father J. S. Michaud of Bennington as Catholic ordination at St. Mary's cathedral. Archbishop Williams of Boston officiated as consecrator and Bishop Gabriele of Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Bishop Bradley of Manchester, N. H., assisting prelates. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Beavell of Holyoke, Mass., and an address was delivered by John J. Whalen of this city.

At the conclusion of the services a banquet was tendered the clergy at Hotel Crystal by St. Mary's parish, after which, with Rev. P. J. Bartlett as toastmaster, a feast of reason was indulged in. In the evening Bishop Michaud held a public reception at the bishop's residence, where all were invited to meet the distinguished clergyman who has lately had bishopric honors thrust upon him.

RECEIVER ENDORSED.

Attorney General Pillsbury began his Affairs of the National Congress of Friends Cleared of a Complication.

> National Congress of Friends by Justice Dunbar in the equity session of the superior court. The order is an insolvent three-year endowment order, and some time last fall its officers made a voluntary assignment to Mr. Wyman, about $11,000 being all its assets. Insurance Commissioner Merrill would not sign a requisi-tion on the state treasurer for the amount of money which the order has with that more advisable for a receiver to be appointed who would be under responsibility to the court, which would see that the certificate holders were properly protected. This refusal to recognize the assignee was purely on the ground of equity and not because of any feeling against the assignee, for whom the commissioner has the greatest respect. The difficulty is now overcome by the court's appointment. SAID HE WAS POISONED.

The route over which the procession will pass and the names of the Judges on best features will be announced later in the local papers. All are cordially invited to participate in the parade without personal solicitation.

If all residents living along the route of the procession will sprinkle the street early in the morning, it will not only prove a source of pleasure to those marching but will keep down the clouds of dust that is so obnoxious to the sightseers.

NEW SECRETARY OF STATE. General John W. Fester of Indians

Nominated and Confirmed. WASHINGTON, June 30.-It took two hours and thirty-five minutes only to transform a private citizen into secretary of state of the United States yesterday. At 1:50 the president sent to the senate the nomination of General John W. Foster of Indiana. At 2:03 the senate confirmed the nomination. At 2:35 his commission was sent to the president and he signed it; at 2:45 it was countersigned by Mr. Wharton, as acting secretary of state, and at 4:15 Mr. Foster took the oath of office of secretary of state before Lewellon Brown, chief clerk and notary public of the state department. It was the quickest work ever known at the state depart-

Female Complaints, is unparalleled in the history of medicine. Is almost infallible. Use it with confidence in cases of Leverthera, Bearing-down Feeling, Weak Back Fellingard. This honor for senators in active service who are nominated for office.

John Watson Foster was born in Pike county, Ind., March 2, 1833. After graduating from the Indiana State university in 1855 he studied law one year at Harvard and then began the practice of law. He enlisted in 1861 and went to the front as major of the Twenty-fifth Indiana Battery, serving through the war under Grant and Sherman. He was must teredout as colonel of the One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Indiana Regiment.

Evansville Daily Journal, and in 1809 was appointed postmaster of that city. President Grant sent him as minister to Mexico in 1873 and President Hayes reappointed him in 1880. In March, 1880, he was made minister to Russia. He resigned in 1881 and established a law office in Washington, making a specialty of international cases, in which he soon achieved distinction. His diplomatic career was resumed in 1883, when he went to Spain as minister under the Arthur regime, returning in 1885. Since then he has been connected with the state department in many commercial treaties and other business that has kept him closely in touch with that department.

THE WAGES OF SIN.

Ghastly Discovery of a Double Suicide in a Baltimore Hotel.

BALTIMORE, June 30 .- Two horribly contorted dead bodies were found in room 216 at the Carrollton Hotel. They were those of a man and woman who arrived at the hotel Jnne 21, and registered as Mr. and Mrs. Fred St. Cloud of New York. The room was frightfully disordered, and quantities of rough-on-rats, laudanum and morphine were found. The woman had been dead three or more hours, while the man had just expired when the bodies were discovered. Chief Clerk Kelly sent St. Cloud's bill to his room and was promised a settlement yesterday. At o'clock a bell boy found the door and transom locked and bolted. Receiving no reply to re-peated calls, the door was burst open. St. Cloud was lying on the bed dead, but still warm, and the woman was on the floor, also dead. Empty wine bottles and half burned cigarets were found in abundance and death had paid the bill.

The best clew to the woman's identity was found in a book inscribed "Irene M. Story, from her papa, Danbury, Conn."

The woman was abou 23 years old.

Weather-Crop Bulletin. Boston, June 30.-The weather for the past week has been generally favorable for most crops in New England. The temperature has been above the average during all the first part of the week and and slightly below during the last part. It was uncomfortably high on the first two days of the week, but since then the range has been small and very near the normal. The sunshine has been below the average in the northern and above in the southern districts. Slightly higher temperature and more sunshine are both needed in both sections.

The First to Decorate.

One of our most patriotic citizens is Mr. Frank C. Packard, the veteran fireman. This is shown anew this week, he being the first to decorate his house for the Centennial celebration. Mr. Packard is a eldest son of Colonel Abner B. Packard, one of Quincy's old families.

Frank was born in Quincy, and was educated in its public schools. Graduating from which he entered the employ of the firm of E. Packard & Co., ink manufacturers. In 1880 the essence business was added, and two years later he was taken into the firm.

He has been a member of the fire department for twenty consecutive years, first out by the engineers he joined the Vulture adopted immediately. Engine Company at Quincy Point, where he remained three months, when he left and joined the Steamer company, with whom he remained until six years ago when he was appointed an assistant engisince that time.

He is a hale fellow well met and has a host of warm friends, and to his geniality is due much the success of his business.

He is a member of Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows, and resides in a handsome residence situated on the corner of Chestnut street and Cottage avenue.

To the Editors of the Ledger:

It seems to me that the labor trouble in this city has assumed such a serious complexion, threatening such financial loss and so great a depopulation of the city, that it is time the citizens generally cried out with earnestness to the manufacturers and emmaterialize, as the necessary funds could ployes to stop the slaughter. It is now two purchasing the amount at once came up months since the quarrymen quit work, and for consideration. six weeks since the cutters were locked out, which means there is upwards of $200,000 $1600 in addition to the unexpended less money in circulation in this city than balance on hand. Every strike has a fundamental object to be gained, and the idea is to attain that object as speedily as possible. Now if it cannot be attained in its entirety, it has been always the policy to take part of it, believing that half a loaf is better than none, and that at some future time the ther half may be gotten.

Such settlement can be reached in either of two ways, i. e.—compromise or arbitration. If an agreement by the first method can be reached, it is the better of the two, but if one side is so persistent and so hotneaded and so avaricious as not to compromise, then arbitration is the only remedy.

Now let us see which side is at fault in not bringing about a compromise. (I wish Kenna, Miss Thayer. it understood here that I am looking at gentleman well-known in this city, being this question from an entirely non-partisan gentleman well-known in this city, being tand point, and one from which I can grant the company of Colonel Abnor B. > The quarrymen made a demand and it was refused. Then the manufacturers made a demand and it was refused. The stonecutters, blacksmiths, and polishers made no demand, uttered not a protest and were locked out. Now the quarrymen offer to compromise on their demand and they also agree to come half way in the manufacturers demand, that is, they are willing to sign a bill dating March 1, with three months previous notice. In other words they agree to notify the bosses of any intended change on December 1, which in my mind gives the contractors plenty of time to straighten things out and make his contracts with full confidence and entire

There's a wide difference between the help that's talked of and the help that's guaranteed. Which do you want, when you're buying medicine?

If you're satisfied with words, you get them with every blood-purifier but one. That one is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. With that, you get a guarantee. If it doesn't help you, you have your money back. On this plan, a medicine that promises help is pretty sure to give it.

But it's because the medicine is different, that it's sold differently. It's not like the sarsaparillas, which are said to be good for the blood in March, April, and May. At all seazons and in all cases, it cures permanently, as nothing else can, all the diseases arising from a torpid liver or from impure blood. It's the best blood - purifier, and it's the cheapest, no matter how many doses are offered for a dollar. With this, you pay only for the good you get. Can you ask more?

A young man calling on a friend found him engaged in cleaning a number of bottles which had contained varnish. "Gracious!" said the visitor. "What did you have in those bottles?" "Ginger ale," replied the man of the house jokingly. "Do you mean to say that you have swallowed that much ginger ale since you moved here two months ago?" "Ginger ale," said the other, evading the question, "when taken in moderate quantities, will make a new man of you." "Nonsense!" said the visitor. BAY STATE REPUBLICANS

Will Hold Their Convention Sept. Ratification Meeting in July.

Boston, June 30.-The Republican state committee held a meeting at the headquarters yesterday. The platform adopted at Minneapolis was favorably commented upon, and much satisfaction was manifested over the action of both Republican and Democratic national conventions with regard to the tariff. It was voted to hold a ratification meeting in Boston as soon as the executive officers can make the neces sary arrangements, and it will probably take place during the last week in July. It was agreed to have the state convention at Tremont Temple, Boston, on Sept 7, unless the executive committee should see fit to change the date to the 14th of the month. The basis of representation will be the same as last year, namely, one delegate for every 150 votes and for every fraction as large as seventy-five cast for Republican presidential electors in 1888 in each town and ward of a city, but every town and ward of a city is entitled to at

Mr. Stanley Lane-Poole has finished his "Catalogue of the Coins of the Mogul Emperors of Hindoostan in the British Museum," from the invasion of Baber to the establishment of a British currency by the East India company, in 1535. It contains descriptions of over 1,400 coins, chiefly gold and silver, 500 of which are represented in the autotype illustrations. This completes this author's description of the entire collection of Mohammedan coins in the

Ancient Tombs

While legal proceedings as to the ownership of the famous Red Rock caverns, below Menton, in which has been recently found a still further group of neolithic skeletons of a giant man, are still pending, an almost equally interesting discovery has been made in a deep railway cutting at Andresy, in Seine-et-Oise, near Paris, where the workmen ran upon a huge Merovingian cemetery of the Sixth century. Already there have been uncovered nearly 600 tombs, extending over an area of 21/2 miels, yielding a hitherto unheard of mass of carved sarcophagi, knives.

It is recalled now that the tiny hamlet ing the introduction of Christianity by ranks.—Paris Letter.
